STALL SERVICE IN FOUR LARGE OHIO CITIES

Participate in Walkout of 2,100 Maintenance Men Over Wage Dispute.

WLB HITS STRIKE

Refuses to Act While Workers Are Off Jobs at Youngstown, Akron, Canton, Cleveland.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Long distance telephone service in northeastern Ohio was impaired seriously today, except for war industries and other essential activities, as an estimated 1,500 women operators joined the strike of 2,100 Ohio Bell Telephone company maintenance and repair men.

Mrs. Therese Donehey, president of the Northeast Ohio Traffic council, reported about 1,000 operators joined the walkout in the Cleveland area and an additional 500 in the Akron-Canton-Youngstown area.

So crippled was service in these cities that Mrs. Donehey appealed to operators to maintain at least skeleton crews at all exchanges so essential services would be continued.

Operators, like the striking maintenance and repair employes, recently asked a $5 increase in weekly wages. Their wages now range from $16 to $29 a week.

This development followed an assertion by a spokesman for the plant council, representing maintenance, installation and repair workers, that the War Labor Board's attempt to end their strike had confused the issue.

I. R. Hudson, president of the plant council, said that the WLB had confused the issue by sending identical telegrams to the traffic and commercial councils which were not involved in the wage dispute leading to the strike of 2,100 plant council members.

Hudson, whose unaffiliated union is the Ohio Federation of

Hikes County Draft Quotas 20 Per Cent

Boards Get Orders for More Selectees In September.

Richland county will be called on to supply more men for the army in September than in any month since induction started, tentative quotas released by Ohio selective service headquarters showed today.

More than 300 men will be inducted from the county this month, and the September quota is expected to take at least 20 per cent more from two of the three county board districts.

While no figures were released by the board clerks, the Board 3 September quota is 20 per cent larger than the August figure, the previous high. Board 2 said its call was for "considerably more men" in September. Board 1 in Mansfield will supply about the same number of men as in July, its busiest month.

All three boards will send large numbers of men to Columbus for final physical examinations about Aug. 20. Registrants who pass their tests then, however, will have two more weeks at home and will be inducted during the first week of September.

The heavy September calls probably will ask for men to report at the induction center late in the month or early in October. No dates have been announced for the September induction.

All three county boards are dipping into their recent registrants, or youths just past 20 and men from 36 to 46, to fill their August quotas. Revised selective service laws require them to order all single men inducted before any more married men are called.

The county's three boards will send small groups of inductees to camp next week. They belong to the groups which are being inducted this week but were held up for further physical check-ups.

WANTS CHECK

WLB Asks Government Review of All Wage Increases.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— To accomplish price stabilization, the war labor board advises government review and approval of all general wage increases.

The WLB expressed this opinion in refusing a general pay raise to 2,750 General Cable company employes in New Jersey after applying its wage stabilization formula.

Dean Wayne L. Morse, who wrote the opinion, declared the board's formula could not bring wage stabilization if limited to wage disputes before WLB for final determination.

A 10 cents an hour increase was asked for the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers for employes in the Bayonne and Perth Amboy plants of General Cable. A three cents an hour increase was voted by the board for night shift workers instead of five cents asked by the union.

BLACKOUT WORKS

Only One Arrest Made In Dayton's Practice Air Raid Test.

DAYTON — (INS) — Dayton officials today hailed the city's first partial blackout as a complete success. The entire city was mobilized in the 25-minute test which went off without accident and with only one arrest reported.

Every home and building not directly engaged in war production was blacked out. Officials warned that the next test for the 250,000 Dayton residents would come without previous notice.

One restaurant owner was charged with failing to extinguish lights during the practice blackout.

Ernest Rasberry Wants His Name Changed, and Why Not?

COLUMBUS, Ga.—Ernest Pershing Rasberry has petitioned the Muscogee superior court to change his surname to "Berry."

His petition said the change was desired because "when petitioner is introduced socially or his name is called in public or in private, he is instantly looked upon in the spirit of puns, jibes, jokes and jests—all to his humiliation and embarrassment and annoyance."

Suspect Admits Starting Fire at Circus Menagerie

PITTSBURGH — (INS)—Pennsylvania railroad police today held a Negro who, they said, admitted setting fire to Ringling Brothers circus in Cleveland on Tuesday.

Railroad Detective S. H. Simmons said the suspect was arrested early last night when found riding a freight train in nearby Duquesne. He refused to reveal his name.

Booked on a charge of illegal train riding, the Negro was lodged in the Duquesne police station while railroad police began a check of the prisoner's story.

According to Simmons, the Negro was on his way to Pittsburgh. On him were found menagerie meal tickets, showing that he was an employe of the circus, according to Simmons.

The prisoner reportedly told detectives he tossed a lighted match into the hay where the animals were eating because another man had threatened to stab him if he did not comply.

The fire at Cleveland Tuesday resulted in the loss of more than 50 prized animals while damage totaled in excess of $200,000.

Keep 'Em Marchin'

Did you know that $3.48 will buy a pair of army shoes?

And that perhaps some unused thing around the house can easily be sold for enough to buy several pairs of them? It's patriotic to sell such things and buy Defense Stamps. Lending that money to Uncle Sam helps to Keep 'Em Marchin'.

It's time to act. The market for used things is brisk.

As Employes Tie Up Telephone Service

Approximately 200 telephone operators refused to pass picket lines today in front of the Ohio Bell Telephone company's Cleveland headquarters. Service was reported impaired at 25 exchanges in the Cleveland, Akron, Canton, and Youngstown areas. Approximately 1,900 employes, belonging to the Federation of Telephone Workers, are on strike over a wage dispute.

WIFE FOLLOWS MATE IN DEATH

Wounds Inflicted By Husband Before He Killed Self Ends In Demise of Mrs. Cox.

Shot twice shortly before noon yesterday by her husband who then took his own life, Mrs. Inez E. Cox, 51, of 131 East Fourth street, died at 4:45 a. m. today at General hospital.

The husband, Russell Cox, 63, died instantly yesterday from a bullet wound in his head. Police said the double tragedy followed a family quarrel which culminated in the shooting in the kitchen at the Cox home.

Shot once in the chest and again in the spine with a .38 caliber revolver, Mrs. Cox was so seriously wounded that police were unable to question her at the hospital about the shooting.

Her only comment to attendants was: "I didn't think he'd do it."

Police said Cox, who was em-

Stray Springer Spaniel Found with Wooden Dental Bridges.

BELLEFONTAINE —(UP)— A stray dog with wooden bridges as dental plates came to the home of Cliff Miller of Russels Point. Miller said the dog, a springer spaniel, had a Cuyahoga county license. He thought that the owner who was thoughtful enough to provide false teeth would claim the dog.

Arrest Two Taxi Drivers In Drive Against Prostitution

Continuing their drive on professional prostitution, Mansfield police today arrested two taxi drivers accused of acting as "procurers" for "street-walking" prostitutes and two Kentucky women who reportedly have been "following" a carnival playing here this week.

Police said that Ralph Underwood and Jack Small, Mansfield, drivers for the same cab company, had been arrested for allegedly working a "date service" for prostitutes. The drivers according to police, took passengers to meet "call girls."

Underwood and Small both pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges when arraigned in municipal court before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch this morning and were fined $100 and costs each.

Police uncovered the "red-light" racket early this week when a soldier on furlough told them he had been "introduced" by a cab driver to a girl at a North Main street and that she took him to a North Main street [illegible] the soldier and girl were fined yesterday on disorderly conduct charges.

Underwood told Kalbfleisch he had been driving a cab for three years but Small said he had been driving only three weeks.

Asked how he knew about the racket, Small told Judge Kalbfleisch that older drivers "had tipped him off."

"We're going to break this up," Judge Kalbfleisch told Small and Underwood. "If you fellows go back to driving cabs, make sure that you only drive cabs."

Judge Kalbfleisch suspended $75 of Underwood's fine pending good behavior and told Small he would "give him a break because he was a dupe" by suspending all the fine pending good behavior.

Bertha M. Spraddle, Whitehorse, Ky., and Della Marie England, Prestonburg, Ky., were fined $100 and costs each after pleading guilty of charges of being suspicious persons. Police said officials of the carnival playing here requested the women's arrest, stating they were soliciting funds from employes and customers and had followed the show from Kentucky. The women were ordered to leave the city.

TRAITOR TO DIE

Sentenced To Be Hanged at Federal Court Trial.

DETROIT—(AP)—Max Stephan, first person in 159 years to be convicted of treason in the United States, was sentenced in federal court today to be hanged.

U. S. District Judge Arthur J. Tuttle directed that Stephan, German-born American citizen, be hanged on Nov. 13, 1942, within the walls of the federal detention prison at Milan, Mich.

Stephan was convicted in federal court here of aiding the flight of a Nazi flier escaped from a Canadian concentration camp.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Tuttle said that since "the lives of millions of our boys will be taken in the course of this war, the court should not be hesitant in taking the life of one traitor for the sake of the cause."

Want Reward Posted to Solve Intimidation Acts at Butler

Six petitions bearing the signatures of 425 residents of the Butler community were to be submitted to county commissioners this afternoon, requesting the county to offer a reward for the apprehension of the person or persons who have carried out repeaded acts of intimidation against Kinsey Morgan, Butler school board member.

Attorney A. S. Beach of Mansfield, representing the petitioners, said he would turn the petitions over to the commissioners and ask Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to join in the appeal for action by the county to put an end to the destruction of Morgan's property.

Morgan had reported to Sheriff Frank E. Robinson today that white lead, poisonous to animals, had been smeared on the head of one of his cows as the latest act against his property.

The petitions cite four other acts which have been directed at Morgan since last March. The tires on his car were slashed March 16, sand was found in the crankcase of his car March 29, steel rods were found driven into his wheat field July 1, one of them badly damaging his wheat binder, and his work harness was slashed to pieces July 19.

Residents of the community have been angered by the acts, apparently the outgrowth of the school fight at Butler last winter and spring, and want some action taken, Attorney Beach said. Sheriff's deputies have investigated each time, finding only automobile tire marks as clues.

ANOTHER BIG CROWD SEES 2ND SEND-OFF

Second Section of Big Draftee Contingent Leaves Today For Indianapolis.

PARADE ON MAIN STREET

Third Group Meets at 7 A. M. Tomorrow For Departure By Special Buses.

Close on the heels of the first section of one of the largest groups of Richland county army selectees to leave the city, another section left Mansfield at noon today for an induction center in Indianapolis.

Mansfield cheered today's selectees just as strongly as those leaving yesterday. Another big turnout is expected tomorrow when draftees from Board 3 leave for military training. This group will leave by bus.

Following the same route taken by their fellow-draftees of Board 1 yesterday, Board 2's contingent marched from the Farmers' Bank building east on Park avenue to Central park and down Main street to Union station.

There was added color on Main street today as merchants heeded the request of Earl Saltzgaber, chairman of the Richland Victory Civic committee, sponsor of the send-offs, that they display flags along the line of march.

Arrangements for today's program were patterned closely after yesterday's with but few exceptions. Board 2 draftees met in the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce at 11 a. m. to receive prayer books, new testaments, Red Cross kits and other articles presented departing draftees.

The selectees also heard short talks given by Saltzgaber, Mayor W. J. Locke and several civic leaders.

Then, with the Mansfield Senior high school band and a color guard from McVey post, American Legion, the selectees marched to the station. Before yesterday, all selectees were transported to induction centers by bus. They were also the second to enjoy two-week furloughs between the time of their 350 Ohio Sportsmen Expected For State Conference.

War-time problems of the sportsmen, conservationist, and farmer will be considered at the summer conference of the League of Ohio Sportsmen on Aug. 22-23 in Mansfield, Gordon Ensminger, chairman in charge of arrangements, said today.

Approximately 350 sportsmen and wildlife conservationists from every section of the state are expected to be here during the convention week-end. Sessions will be at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

A tour of the Pleasant Hill and Charles Mill lake areas and the Mohican State park and dedication of the Johnny Appleseed Boy Scout forest near Mifflin are on the program for the opening day of the conference. There will be a barbecue the opening night at Malabar farm and all sportsmen's organizations in the county will have special entertainment for visitors.

Ceremony Tonight Launches Navy's 'Recruit Day' Here

The United States Navy moves in on Mansfield tonight — with high hopes of signing up a lot of Richland county youths for service.

The navy moves in via a mobile unit, with Lieut. Ralph H. Dombey in charge.

Tomorrow in Mansfield will be "Navy Recruiting Day."

Lieut. Dombey, who is district naval recruiting officer, and his staff, Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, Gilmore Hiett, advertising manager of The News-Journal, and city and civic leaders will be included on the welcoming program at Central park at 8 p. m. today.

Lieut. Dombey's staff will bring to Mansfield the U. S. S. Recruiter, a mobile unit in which

Nazis Threaten Key City From South and West

Russian Defenders of Caucasus Oil Fields Retreat Further as Foe Brings Up Reinforcements; Soviets Advance In North.

(By International News Service)

MOSCOW—A major German drive for the great steel city of Stalingrad, created by and named for the leader of the Soviet Union, was launched today following a further retreat southward by Soviet troops attempting to defend the Caucasian oil fields.

Latest dispatches from the battlefront said the threat to Stalingrad was not yet grave. But there was no question that a full-blown Nazi offensive had been started, with the city now endangered from the south as well as the west.

On the Leningrad front, Soviet troops stormed and captured a strong German center of resistance. Enemy attempts to retake the village were repulsed with heavy losses.

German reinforcements in the region of Tsimlyansk moved ahead and reached the Stalingrad-Novorssisk railway. In the Belaya-Glina sector, 50 miles south west of Salsk, the Nazis advanced also as part of a pincers movement designed to join at Tikhoretsk and sever the main north Caucasian railway.

The Red army continued to hold firmly on a semi-circular line in the Kletskaya region, but the Nazi advance into the Caucasus continued at what was acknowledged to be an "alarming" rate.

In the district of Kotelnikov, the Germans forced a Soviet retreat in some sectors. Latest reports said a heavy tank battle was in progress near the railway line.

The enemy first attacked on a wide front, using small groups of tanks followed by infantry. This maneuver failing, the Germans launched a general tank offensive but were repulsed by Soviet tanks and artillery. A left column advance also was hurled back.

Cossack troops again distinguished themselves in the region south of Kushchevskaya, fortifying their positions on the left bank of an unidentified river. The enemy tried to effect crossings at three different places, but each time the Soviets opened heavy fire. Many of the enemy were drowned or wounded and none was able to reach the shore.

On other sectors south of Kushchevskaya Soviet troops have been entrenched for the last two days on strategic heights which are holding firmly despite strong enemy shelling and aerial bombardment.

"Our troops fought heavy defensive engagements against enemy tanks and mechanized infantry south of Belaya-Glina," the noon communique said. "Our troops withdrew to new positions."

WARNING: Cripps Says British Will Preserve Order In India

(By United Press)

LONDON—Sir Stafford Cripps, in behalf of the British war cabinet, served notice on Indian nationalists today that it would not be coerced into granting immediate independence to India and would do its utmost to preserve law and order despite a threatened mass civil disobedience campaign.

Warning that chaos and perhaps civil war would result if an immediate political change were attempted, Cripps said:

"We make no threats but we must assert unequivocally that it is our duty to India, to its great minorities and to the United Nations to preserve law and order until hostilities and we can give, as we promised, the fullest opportunity for the attainment of self government by the Indian people."

Cripps, leader of the house of commons and lord privy seal in the inner war cabinet, who took to India the offer of post-war independence which the nationalists summarily rejected, made his statement in the London Times.

Speaking while the working committee of the nationalist all-India congress was meeting at Bombay to vote a mass civil disobedience campaign despite the threat of Japanese invasion, Cripps said:

"No one will expect the British government or the government of India to give way to threats of violence, disorder and chaos."

He appealed to the Indian people to be patient for a short time "while the cause of freedom is being fought—not because we want to delay but because the hard facts of war make a complete change impossible at the moment."

Indicating that the government had given up hope of compromise with the militant nationalists, Cripps challenged Nationalist Leader Mohandas Gandhi's statement that any disturbances in India would be spontaneous by the people and that if independence were not granted at once "hidden discontent" would "burst forth into a welcome to the Japanese should they effect a landing."

"My answer to that proposition

SHIFT: Nazis Open Sub, Plane Campaign Over Iceland Area

(By United Press)

REYKJAVIK, Iceland—(Delayed)—The Germans have opened a co-ordinated submarine and bomber campaign around Iceland, perhaps because of increasing effective anti-U-boat measures off the Atlantic coast of the United States.

Thus far the total damage the Germans have done is negligible.

Twice this week, German bombers attacked military installations in Iceland. The first time, on Sunday, a small military installation in the southeast corner of the island was lightly bombed and machine-gunned. The second time was early Tuesday. A bomber flew over western Iceland, just west of Reykjavik, and machine-gunned a lighthouse east of Holmavik, in northwest Iceland.

Army communiques disclosed that German bombers are coming in singly along the coast and making sorties into shore, usually in cloudy weather. Twice bombers have passed almost over Reykjavik, but dropped nothing. These tactics apparently are designed for nuisance and reconnaissance, in addition to occasional attacks on small trawlers along the coast.

German bombers are known to be ranging widely over desolate stretches of the Arctic seas north of Iceland, making weather observations and hunting convoys. In operations closer to Iceland, they are aided now by a few more hours of darkness, which is replacing the almost continuous daylight of summer.

Increasing submarine activity has been reported, and heavy plane and naval patrols are guard-

Y. M. C. A. BOYS STAGE OUTING AT TWO PARKS

Members of Softball League, Swimming Teams, Other Classes Meet Thursday.

More than 130 Mansfield boys will gather at North lake and Middle parks tomorrow for an all-day outing sponsored by Y. M. C. A. officials for members of the Y Junior softball league, swimming teams and other classes. Originally scheduled for last Friday the picnic was rained out.

In the morning, two postponed kittenball games will be played off on the North Lake park diamond. In the first game Johns park will face the Empire Steel team and in the second the Y Pro's oppose the Maple Lake juniors.

At noon the youngsters will go to Middle park for a wiener roast. "Hot dogs" will be provided by the Y. M. C. A.

Two other postponed games and an extensive track and field program will be run off in the afternoon, again at North Lake park. Prizes are to be awarded to the winners of the first three places in each event. Included on the list of afternoon activities are 75 and 100-yard dashes, broad jump, softball throw for distance and accuracy, a wheelbarrow race and a bicycle race. Heats of the bike race are to be run off in the morning.

Prizes to be awarded winners are being donated by the Mansfield Athletic supply and the Ohio Textile company.

Afternoon kittenball games bring together the Maple Lake juniors and the Empire Steel group in the first contest. Playing for the third time that day Maple Lake will face Johns Park in the other game.

Arrangements for the wiener roast are in charge of Y Secretary Ralph B. Chapman and Lee Crawford. Physical Director John W. Fike and Ed Moran will superintend the athletic program.

Not All Would-Be Aviators In RAF Are Born Fliers

LONDON — Not all would-be aviators who pass through the flying schools of RAF training command are born fliers. In fact, some, judging by the comments of their instructors are even a little on the dumb side

A famous English instructor, now a group captain who has a great record for bombing raids over Germany tells this story of one of his pilots:

"I told him to take-off, climb to a thousand feet only, and then fly straight and level.

"Up he went. We got to a thousand feet and still he climbed. I didn't say anything but waited. We passed 2,000 feet and were well on the way up to 3,000. Then I leaned towards the speaking tube and asked him, "What height are you?"

"Back came his reply in a flash —'Five feet eight and a half, sir'."

JOINS THE NAVY

PORTLAND, Ore. — (U.P.) — A draft board official preferred fighting himself rather than sending others to do it.

After having signed up hundreds of draftees for military service, Carl Hering, Jefferson county draft board chairman, drafted himself recently into the navy—not the army.

"I've always wanted to enlist in the navy and besides one gets tired of seeing others always leaving for the big show," said Hering in his resignation letter.

SORORITY PICKS NEW PRESIDENT

ASHLAND—Mrs. T. W. Miller, jr., who has resigned as president of the A. A. sorority as she is leaving Ashland to join her husband, Lieut. Miller, at Camp Perry, was hostess to members of the sorority at a breakfast party at her home Wednesday morning.

During a short business meeting Mrs. Ralph Diffendorfer was elected president to complete Mrs. Miller's term. Mrs. Ingmand was elected treasurer, succeeding Mrs. B. F. Norton, a recent bride, who is moving to Lorain. Mrs. Diffendorfer appointed Mrs. Robert Kopp, Mrs. Thomas Dexter, jr., and Mrs. Herman Lutz to the program committee.

SCOUTS INDUCT NEW OFFICERS

Loudonville Troop Plans For Three-Day Camp; Girl Scouts Meet.

LOUDONVILLE—New officers of the Loudonville Boy Scouts troop were installed at a recent meeting of the troop with Scoutmaster John Solomon acting as installing officer.

Scouts installed at troop leaders were: Dean Robinson, James Buzzard, and Lawrence Brown, patrol leaders; Dick Currens, Bob Heffelfinger and Bill Roller, assistant patrol leaders, and Jim McClure and Jack Hughes, senior patrol leaders.

The troop plans to leave Friday at 6 p. m. to camp three days at the lake.

Sunday morning they will attend church services.

The Vagabond patrol, Girl Scouts, and leader, Miss Helen Jarvis, met in scout room recently. Roll call was answered with the Girl Scouts law. Freda Darling was in charge of the business meeting. Plans were made for a picnic next Monday.

CONSIDER RAILS

Willard Council to Study Plan To Remove Car Tracks.

WILLARD—A letter from the War Production Board at Cleveland was read at the meeting of city council recently regarding the street car rails under the pavement at Myrtle avenue. The old rails extend for one and one-half blocks in the business district.

The subject is to be considered further before tearing up the pavement.

The board of trustees at Municipal hospital was granted permission to purchase a refrigerator to be used as a blood bank here.

The Cary Roofing company at Sandusky was authorized to repair the roofs at the mausoleum in Greenlawn cemetery, at city hall and at Municipal hospital.

GALION SCHOOLS ELIMINATE HOLIDAYS IN 1943 SCHEDULE

GALION — In continuance of the widespread acceleration of school programs, Supt. M. A. Povenmire of Galion public schools has announced the complete school calendar for 1942-43. By eliminating spring vacation school will be terminated May 28, allowing, however, for observance of Good Friday with no school on April 23.

Christmas vacation will consist of the customary two weeks, with classes dismissed Dec. 18 and reconvening Jan. 4. Examinations for the termination of the first semester will be held Jan. 21 and 22. Contrary to previous custom school will be held on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22. Baccalaureate services will be held on May 23, with examinations on May 25 and 26, and commencement exercises scheduled for May 27.

Povenmire also announced that school will open at 8:45 a. m. instead of the previous time of 8:30 a. m. This change is to comply more easily with the war savings time now in effect.

Distribution of automobile license tag revenue is being made from the county auditor's office this week.

Distributions are being made as follows: Bucyrus city, $2,893.75; Galion, $3,456.25; Crestline, $1,231.25; New Washington, $400; Chatfield, $250; North Robinson, $81.25; and Tiro, $187.50.

The county receives $3,125 and in addition receives equalization distributions of five and 47 per cent or $24,667.

PASS ASHLAND DOG ORDINANCE

ASHLAND—Dogs are now "regulated" here. Under an ordinance passed by city councilmen this week, it is illegal for dogs to run at large and cause annoyance to any person or damage to any property.

It is also unlawful to keep any dog which causes annoyance by frequent loud or continuous howling, barking or yelping after notice has been given the owner.

During the past two months council has given consideration to such an ordinance, deemed necessary by numerous complaints received daily by the police department on dogs barking, running through lawns and gardens and biting persons.

BECOMES NURSE

WILLARD—Miss Dorothy Steiner, who is spending one month with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Steiner, learned yesterday that she has passed the state board examination and is now a registered nurse.

Following her graduation from Otterbein college at Westerville, Miss Steiner took a nurse's training course at Western Reserve university at Cleveland where she was graduated recently. She leaves Sept. 1 to be a surgical nurse at Lakeside hospital.

PROBATE WILL

MILLERSBURG—An authenticated copy of the will of Margaret C. Young was admitted to probate. It stipulates that the husband, George W. Young, receive all of the property after payment of debts, except $100 which is bequeathed to the Kaylor Ridge cemetery, the interest to be used for upkeep; also $200 for one-half the cost of a monument to be erected on the lot in Kaylor Ridge cemetery. The will was made Jan. 17, 1934.

More Home Boys Enter Service

THIS IS ANOTHER of the weeks that will leave a deep impression on the minds of many Mansfield and Richland county people, who are steadily being brought closer to full realization of the extent to which the war is draining the young manhood from this and every other community in the country.

Departure of three more contingents of selectees and another group of navy recruits marks the opening week in August and makes substantial addition to the number of men from this city and county who are now in some branch of military service.

The send-off ceremonies, sponsored by the Richland Civic Victory committee, and participated in by thousands of relatives, friends and well-wishers of the young men who are leaving, reflect credit on the community and also serve to make public demonstration of the keen interest which everyone feels in those who are being required to do the actual fighting to preserve the freedom of all of us.

While there is every inclination of "send them away with a smile," it cannot be disregarded that such a war as is now being fought is serious business and that each of these young men is moving toward an unpredictable future which must involve risks and perils for many of them.

Tears are not far behind the smiles that cheer our home boys on their way to war—and there is also a firmer resolve on the part of those who are left behind that no civilian task that may in any way help the nation's fighting forces will remain undone.

'Rolling Stone' Proverb Timely

THE PRACTICE of luring men from one plant to another by the promise of longer hours with their big overtime pay is bad in every way. The man who moves is always having to learn some new task or new way of doing an old one. He wastes some of his previously learned skill at a time when waste is dangerous.

The worker wastes, moreover, his own physical powers when he works too long at a time without proper sleep or seventh-day rest and recreation.

The law of diminishing returns begins to act quite soon after the forty-eight hour week has been put in. The work is not so good, the worker is more liable to accident, he is often obligated to take days off because of weariness or actual illness at a time when he is most needed.

The labor policy advocated by the war, navy, commerce and labor departments of the government, the Maritime commission, Public Health Service, Manpower commission and War Production Board is aimed at the prevention of the pirating and the diminishing returns. If followed generally, it may bring a much needed degree of order into chaotic labor situations.

'Community Bargain Days' as Usual

ONCE AGAIN comes the call of Mansfield's "Community Bargain Days," and even while thoughts of war are uppermost in mind there is realization that daily needs must be supplied and preparations made to provide the seasonal requirements of coming weeks and months.

Insofar as the routine of individual and family life is concerned in Ohio and in the Mansfield area, there has thus far been little change in buying habits, except as to restricted articles, and Mansfield retail stores are amply stocked with new and attractive merchandise which will make favorable appeal to the people of this city and trading territory.

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, with fifty-five Mansfield merchants participating, tomorrow and Saturday promise exceptional opportunities for economical buying in local stores—and also an opportunity to learn more about the splendid variety of merchandise that is available here.

Anniversary of Forgotten General

SOLDIERS are like other people—they need a chance to show what they can do. If there is no war, the commander of an army may be a second Napoleon; but no one will know it.

Something like this was the fate of perhaps the ablest American general between the Civil war and the first World war: Nelson A. Miles, born on August 8, 1839. In the Civil war he was one of the youngest of the Union generals, commanding a corps of 26,000 men when only 25 years old. From this promising beginning he rose to lieutenant-general, yet never had an adequate chance to show his talents. His chief battles were against the Indians: Cheyennes, Kiowas, Comanches, Nez Perces and, most important of all, the Apaches under Geronimo. In all he performed brilliantly. In the Spanish war he was out of favor with President McKinley and Secretary of War Alger, who gave the command of the Cuban expedition to the far less qualified Shafter, so fat that he could not sit a horse. Toward the end of the war Miles was allowed to clear the Spaniards out of Puerto Rico, which he did with masterly despatch. Retiring for age in 1903, he lived until 1925.

When it comes to land warfare for our armies, it will be fortunate if they have as able a leader as Nelson A. Miles.

Police Frown On 'Piloting'

QUICK ACTION will be taken, of course, by police and operators of taxicab companies to guard against continuance of the disclosed racket of taxicab driver connivance with prostitutes in directing soldiers, or other men, to the hide-outs of "call girls."

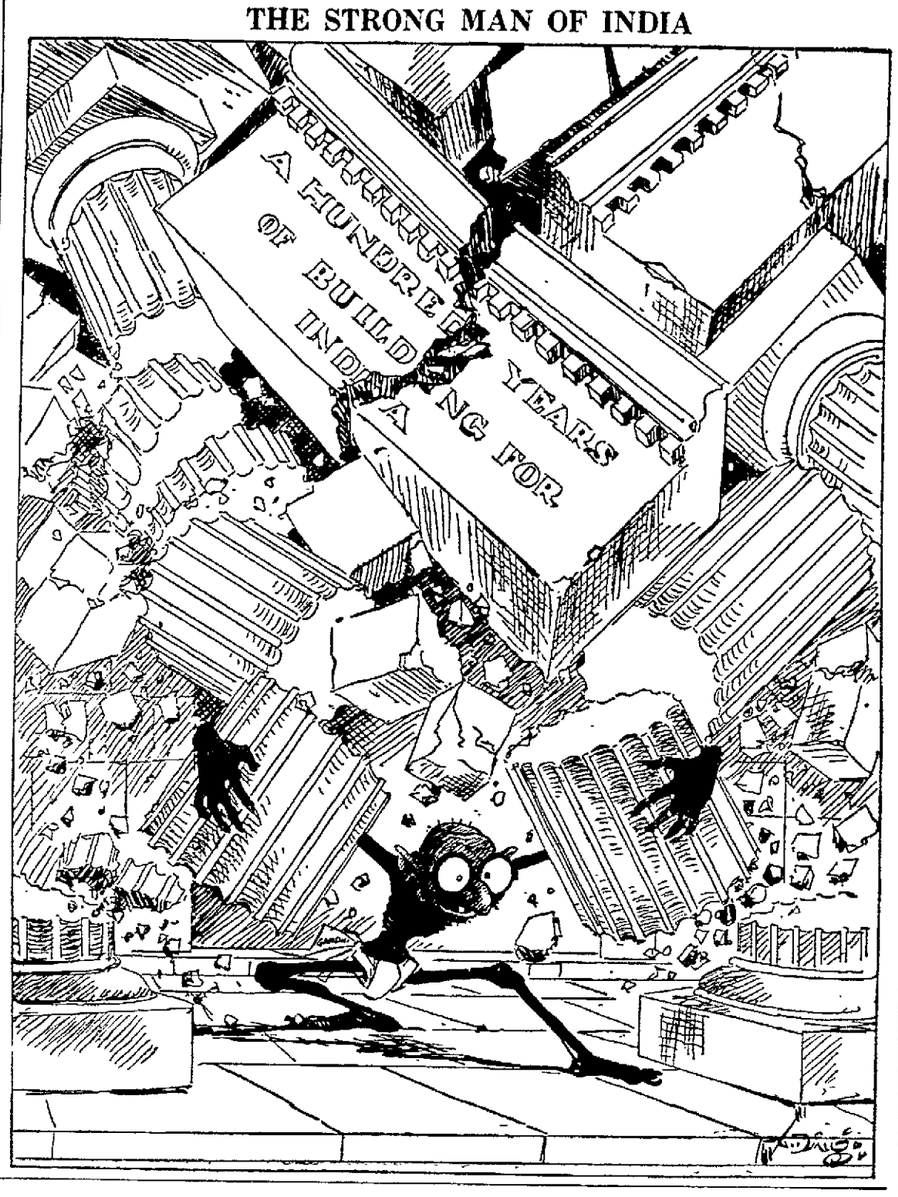
Since the local segregated district has been closed, by FBI order, there has been a scattering of these disease-breeders into individual hide-aways around town and it appears that what police describe as "a certain few" taxicab drivers have been co-operating as go-betweens in this illicit traffic.

This is recognizedly no part of a reputable taxicab business, nor does it indicate co-operation in the national war effort to keep soldiers and war workers free from venereal diseases.

Unheard remark: "This is a party line and someone else might want to use the phone, so I'll cut the conversation short."

Remember the time, back in "the good old days," when women were referred to as "the weaker sex."

THE STRONG MAN OF INDIA



Politicos Start Fourth Term Talk

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

(Editor's Note — President Roosevelt's effort to control the choice of New York's Democratic nominee for governor evidences his willingness to divide time between politics and the national war effort and re-opens discussion of an idea that he is laying the ropes for a fourth term. This makes the following article of timely interest.)

THIS year's election is a simple enough proposition. Only senators' and representatives' seats are at stake. Candidates haven't been very vocal on the stump. They've been too generally detained in Washington to get out and campaign.

Also there has been a good deal of resentment in congress concerning the bitterness with which the lawmakers' wartime legislating has been criticized.

The war hasn't been going over satisfactorily from the United Nations' standpoint, and congress has been popularly panned for developments' unsatisfactoriness more vigorously than our executive administration has.

Illustratively, in a Washington newspaper the other day I read a "letter to the editor," from one of the publication's readers who tells of the tremendous clean-up he thinks he could have made already "if we had a wide-awake government."

By government he means the legislative end of it, for he adds, "But our congress consists of a lot of rusty politicians, who know as little about war as about thrift or economy and prefer to spend billions on ridiculous boondoggles."

Such comment, of which there's plenty, isn't calculated to guarantee a friendly contest at the polls.

Congress' Answer.

If there's a bunch of "rusty politicians" on Capitol Hill, it makes them particularly sore, because their contention is that the works, in so far as they've been gummed, from Uncle Sam's angle, have been excutively, not legislatively, gummed.

Hence it's a mean congressional campaign.

Still, it's only normally mean.

The 1940 campaign was presidentially mean on account of the third term issue.

Still, it slid across with a reasonable degree of harmony. Results showed that the public accepted the emergency as justifying disregard of a national anti-third-term precedent, and there was no violent holler contrariwise.

This year, even if there's ugliness, no precedent's involved.

But suppose the war's still raging in 1944!

Or suppose the war's over but a heck of an economic crisis is on hand!

How about a fourth term in the White House?

If that question isn't asked, it's poor guessing.

Three terms, as an exception, passed muster. But would four of 'em?

Politicians won't discuss it as a possibility. Democrats won't do it, because the idea scares 'em. Republicans won't because they're afraid of being accused of present-day anti-administration sympathies. Dozens of 'em are confidentially putting the problem to one another, though.

Say the war ends before early 1944. Okey, that'll be the answer.

Say the United Nations will have won by then, and our own economics have been slicked up by then. Okey, also.

But say the muss is still rampant, with the outcome dependent upon United National 100 per cent solidarity. If the Axis has us and our associates on the run by that time, as it has, to a certain extent, at present, there's no telling. But if we and the rest of the aggregation seem to be just on the verge of scoring near-victory or POSSIBLE victory, then what?

A Tough Decision.

Will we want to turn over the boss-ship of our job to a new administration?

And yet, if we don't—

Four terms in the presidential office!

Who'd be discussed as a Roosevelt rival?

Wendell Willkie's most frequently mentioned.

I don't know why he should be. He is, tough.

Anyway, the idea of a 16-year president isn't dismissed as an impossibility in Washington — and the suggestion's made that 16 years might run on into indefinite perpetuity.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, August 6, 1922.

Miss Anna Whelock was honored by presentation of service medal on completion of 25 years employment with Metropolitan Insurance company.

Membership in Mansfield Horseshoe Pitchers' league reached 75.

Miss Edith Shearer resigned as general secretary of Y. W. C. A. to take similar position in Cleveland.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes of Hummelstown, Pa., accepted call to pastorate of St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gremiling, South Mulberry street.

Mrs. W. B. Crider, 5 Summit court, was improving after operation performed at General hospital.

Marion Davies in "The Young Diana" was screen attraction at the Opera House.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Under a black sky, with rain falling in torrents, on this date in 1777 the Battle of Oriskany (near what is now Utica) was fought between 800 Americans and a force of British, Canadians and Indians. It was the brave old Indian fighter, General Herkimer, whose forces turned the trick and the battle was a prelude to the American victory at Saratoga, the turning point of the war.

Man About Manhattan

Symphonic Sign

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—That sign over the gateway to Eric Leinsdorf's farm near Washington, Va., which caused so much disturbance among the natives, has been cleared up. For awhile the people in that sector couldn't make out whether it was written in Chinese or Hebrew . . . The proprietor of the village drugstore finally collared the conductor and asked him outright . . . Was it Chinese, or Hebrew? . . . This caused Leinsdorf to grin happily . . . It was neither Chinese nor Hebrew . . . Leinsdorf calls his farm "The Sixth" after Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony . . . The sign, painted in musical notes, carries the symphony's central theme.

JEAN DALRYMPLE, to whom fate is only something to grin at, relates a costly experience over a recent week-end in Rochester, N. Y. She went to Rochester to take in an Iturbi concert, and while there someone entered her room and walked off with her pocketbook.

Curious as to just what a girl like Jean would carry in a pocketbook—she always carries such huge ones—I asked if she'd mind running down the list of items, and she acquiesced thusly:

(1) $200 in cash, (2) a gold money clip that carried with it a gold pencil, a key, a watch that cost $500, (3) a 50-caret aquamarine that she got last year in Rio, (4) an $7-carat topaz, (5) two extra gold pencils, (6) her eyeglasses, (7) lipstick, (8) gold compact, (9) a ring of keys, (10) a folder of Calif. and N. Y. automobile licenses, (11) personal cards, (12) a folder of sentimental mementoes, (13) and a lace hankie ("The prettiest I owned.")

Of course, the missing items were never found, despite activities of the hotel authorities and the police . . . But several days later a package arrived and in it were her driver's licenses, her keys and the sentimental mementos . . . Not a word accompanied the package . . . The 200 bucks, and the topaz and the aquamarine are still whistling down the wind.

DUSOLINA GIANNINI, the Met's soprano, is frequently mistaken for a foreigner . . . As a matter of fact, she was born in Philadelphia and obtained her entire musical education in this country . . . She prefers living in the country to any other place . . . It's the birds . . . They help her singing. How does she account for this? . . . Birds are the only true singers in the world, she says . . . They never sing offkey. They never are off pitch. They fill the air with such pure song that you can't help being benefited by it. That's also one reason why Lily Pons keeps an aviary in her home. She says the birds help her sing better.

Today's Thought.

Public enemies include those of any group who hurt all of us by refusing to compromise for the good of all.—Akron Beacon-Journal.

Orderly Retreat to Better Ground Improves Position of Soviet Army

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

THE HITLERITES have continued to gain ground in the face of magnificent Russian resistance in the Tsimlyansk sector of the lower Don and in the Belaya Glina zone almost due south of Rostov near the mouth of the great river, but while the Red position is serious it can be said that nothing of a decisive nature has yet developed in this fateful battle.

From the standpoint of the Allied cause, the most important fact is that thus far the Muscovites haven't suffered annihilation of any considerable units of troops, as happened in last year's bloody fighting. The Bolshevist retirement has been carried out in an orderly manner, and apparently without excessive losses.

Such a retreat represents one of the most difficult of military operations and provides still further evidence of the outstanding generalship of the Soviet army and the staunchness and sturdiness of the men.

As a result the Reds at latest reports were maintaining a battle line which, throughout much of its great length, seemed to be holding well. That affords encouragement.

This doesn't mean that further Russian retirement isn't to be expected, for it is. We must be prepared to see the Nazis thrust forward to the very edge of the great Caucasian mountain range.

However, once the foothills are reached the Reds will be on better ground to counter the attack of Hitler's mechanized forces which at present are operating over the firm, level plains of the northern Caucasus.

In view of the great weight of Hitler's attack, it is natural that the question of a second front should continue to be a burning issue. Still, it strikes me that we shall save a bit of wear and tear on the nerves if we take cognizance of the fact that the conflicting reports about the possibilities of such a front are part of a game of bean-porridge-hot-bean-porridge-cold which the Allied chiefs seem to be encouraging with the shrewd idea of worrying the Axis.

This isn't to suggest that there's any doubt about a second front being established. It will be, but the time and place are the secret of the Allied high command, as should be.

That's really all we of the general public need know about the matter, and so we are free to get ahead with our own jobs in support of the war effort. But it isn't all that the Germans need know, and for that reason they are badly worried.

It's logical for them to fear some sort of invasion in the not distant future. Hitler knows that the need of an Allied second front grows in direct ratio to the increase of the Red danger. Therefore, unless the Muscovites are able to halt his drive soon, he naturally will look for an emergency invasion of the continent to relieve the pressure on the eastern front.

The fuehrer knows, too, that next spring may well be too late for an Allied second front if, meantime, he has crippled Russia, made conquest of the Caucasus and secured fresh supplies. That's why he is anxious about an attack in the west in the near future.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Of all the fantastic stories told about this war, one of the best is that which concerns the District of Columbia postoffice.

The name Vincent Burke probably doesn't ring a bell in the minds of one out of 100,000 persons, but he is the No. 1 city postmaster. Every item of mail going in or out of the District passes through hands supervised by Vincent Burke.

Since Pearl Harbor, the mail revenue in Washington has increased 20 per cent a month, every month. Pouch mail has increased 35 to 40 per cent a month. Sack mail, which involves that going out of the war department as well as mail from local camps to other camps and foreign stations, has increased 60 per cent a month.

In addition, there has been an increase monthly of 35 per cent in money orders; plus increases in the sale of war bonds and stamps that haven't even been computed.

Add to this the loss of approximately 250 postal service men to selective service and voluntary enlistment (the army and navy were pretty keen to get experienced postoffice men), the necessary replacement of these losses and the hiring of at least "several hundred additional employes" to make up for increased work to date, and you will have some picture of what the Washington postoffice has been up against.

IF THIS were all, the Washington mail situation could be reduced to fundamentals. But it isn't. Mail trains (those scheduled to arrive for certain local deliveries) and mail planes are apt to be very late. That means that delivery times built up over the last ten or 20 years have to be juggled.

Unofficially, I can cite an illustration which applies to Washington, but which might well fit any city in the land. One of the most important mail trains from northern metropolitan centers arrives here at 5:30 a. m. Most days now it is one to three hours late. That's just enough to make that important night mail (including first newspapers from three metropolitan cities) miss the first deliveries. In some sectors of the city, the second delivery is based on maximum weight or there's none at all. That means that the first delivery can't possibly get around until afternoon.

IF THIS weren't an election year and a war year, Washington probably would follow closely the pattern of the rest of the country. It follows that pattern now, but in most instances a score of times over. Only the mushroom cities in military and war industry centers can match stamps and cancellations with Washington, D. C., these days.

If your mail is hours or a day or two late, give this a thought.

Daily Bible Thought

Behold I have set before thee an open door. He that overcometh I will make him a pillar in the temple of my God. And I will write upon him the name of my God and the name of the city of my God — the new Jerusalem which cometh down out of the heaven from my God and my own new home.—Revelation 3:12.

Century of Peace for Eskimos Follows Decision To End Wars

(Editor's Note: Clark M. Garber, of Butler, who spent eight years among the Eskimos in Alaska as a teacher, and who has attained prominence as an educator, author and lecturer, gives some interesting information about Eskimos in the article that follows and explains why they are not adaptable to military service.)

NOW that the war has reached Alaska, have you ever wondered what the attitude of the native Eskimos and Indians may be? You see, the native peoples of Alaska make up almost half the territory's population. I am writing on this subject because I have frequently read accounts of making soldiers out of Eskimos.

Of course, in the excitement and stress of war, there is apt to be many strange and impractical ideas born in the minds of people, and the thought of converting primitive Eskimos or Aleuts into soldiers is perhaps one of the most ludicrous.

By nature the Eskimos are hunters and trappers, but that does not mean they would be good soldiers. In the first place, most of them have poor vision, which prevents them becoming expert in the use of firearms; yet I have known many that were very good marksmen.

If they could fight with their own native weapons such as the bow and arrows and spear they would be rather formidable soldiers. And, there was a time when the Eskimos waged bitter wars between their tribes and between the Alaskan and Asiatic Eskimos, but eventually they came to recognize the futility and uselessness of killing each other off in order to settle their quarrels.

A great counsel was held in which it was agreed that war should thereafter and forever be outlawed. This was more than a hundred years ago and they have had no wars since. What a great lesson our civilization might take from these primitive people.

NEXT to their generally poor vision, the Eskimos' inability to subsist on the white man's diet is a most important reason why they would not make good warriors in the white man's army. By racial evolution their digestion has become highly specialized, so much so, that they can live only on their own diet of raw meats, blubber, etc.

Imagine, if you can, the problem of supplying an Eskimo army with raw meat and blubber. With the Eskimo men in the army there would be none left to do the hunting, trapping and fishing, consequently the soldiers as well as the people left in the villages would starve.

To cut an Eskimo off from his own native diet and take away his fur garments is the same as signing his death warrant. Within a few months, tuberculosis will have claimed him. In fact, 50 per cent of the present Eskimo and Indian population of Alaska have tuberculosis in either the active or incipient stage. Hence, only a small per cent of the men could physically qualify for military service.

ABOUT the only way in which the native men of Alaska could contribute anything toward our war effort and Alaska's protection would be in the line of home guards. Perhaps they might function as spies against the enemy, but here again their primitive status and lack of knowledge of modern warfare would make their efforts futile.

Consequently, the Eskimos of Alaska will have but a small place in the protection of their home land. Their desire to help may be great but their efforts will be stymied by the very nature of their life processes.

Timely Editorial

The Silver Scandal.

The war offers new argument for halting the silver scandal. Silver is needed for planes, guns and electrical equipment, but because of greed of the silver interests, the government cannot make use of this metal for consumptive purposes except at outrageously inflated prices.

If war industries could get some of the treasury's vast hoard of silver, thousands of tons of scarce copper, lead and tin could be released for military use. But to divert silver without limitation into war channels requires repeal of the silver purchase acts of 1934 and 1939.

Details of the silver bloc's racket are too involved to describe here. Briefly, the result of the racket is that while the taxpayer is being compelled to pay a subsidy of at least 35 cents an ounce on all the silver added to the treasury's mounting pile, civilian industry is about to be deprived of its right to buy imported silver except for war purposes.

And to top all this, a silver senator had the crust to suggest the other day that the government's price be raised from 71.11 cents to an even dollar!—Akron Beacon-Journal.

A Farmer's Diary

Day on the Farm

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT RAINED last night. This morning the sky was overcast, and the soil was damp and pliable. I planted sweetcorn in the potato rows where the seed had rotted from wet weather. My wife and the two older boys acted as water carriers and errand boys—big sister was busy with dinner for all the workers of the field.

The air was fresh, and washed clean. Soybeans, corn, potatoes and cucumbers had perked up. Every leaf was spread, every rootlet seemed to be stretching.

I was happy that all our family labored together to produce something useful and essential to many people. There is, I think, a delight and a dignity to labor that is the saving grace of every happy home. Labor, not of slaves, but of free men, has built our country, and will keep it free.

Our farm seemed a quiet and beautiful place to work—where every member of the family might contribute to the whole accomplishment. The wind, the sky, the rolling hills, the moist deep earth, the dark glossy green of the twining cucumbers, the tasseled corn—even the pungence of spray lime and the tang of manure hilled into the rows, seemed to accent the rightness of the picture.

The sun came out, about noon, and we went indoors. There was a skillet of fried potatoes, turnips, and green beans, new apple sauce. Cold milk for children's drinking.

In the afternoon the youngsters hunted berries on the slope and went for a swim in the river. The third boy has learned to swim this summer — the two younger ones are following right along.

Just after sunset we worked in the field again. The evening quiet settled upon the valley. The crane flew home—silhouetted against the afterglow. Fireflies began to twinkle above the swamp. Big sister shooed the small brothers — scrubbed and sleepy — off to bed. We sat on the porch for a little, and watched the moon, then without even bothering to light a lamp, went to bed and slept.

GERMANS START MAJOR ATTACK ON STALINGRAD

Russian Defenders Continue To Retreat in Oil Area of Caucasus.

up by the Exchange Telegraph company asserted that German forces already were engaging Soviet troops defending the city of Krasnodar and the Maikop oil fields.)

Stalingrad was imperiled by a 50 mile eastward advance of German forces which crossed the Don river below Tsimlyansk and moved up to the vicinity of Kotelnikovo. The latter is situated on the strategic Stalingrad - Krasnodar - Novorossisk railway 95 miles southwest of the great industrial city on the Volga.

On the front northwest of Stalingrad, around Klatskaya where the Germans are seeking to press down the northern arm of their pincers, the Soviets held firmly to their positions after repulsing numerous concerted German attacks, the high command declared. The Nazis lost 600 men in the battling there, it was said.

Kuban and Cossack cavalry forces were credited with slaying another 600 Nazis during a furious night raid against an enemy-held inhabited locality on the Kushchevskaya front some 50 miles below captured Rostov. This raid was conducted in typical Cossack fashion with the seasoned riders wielding sabres to cut down the enemy.

Previously German Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's forces had scored a gain on this front by forcing the defenders south of Kuschevskaya.

The Red army in the west Caucasus was desperately fighting a retreating battle to the stifling heat of the sun-scorched steppes in the region of Belaya-Glina.

Unable to overcome the Russian resistance by direct frontal attack, the Germans tried several flanking movements. One of these maneuvers ended in disaster for the Germans when the Nazis exposed their own flank to the Russians. The defenders inflicted heavy casualties on the Germans before they were able to extricate themselves.

Tank crews particularly were suffering great hardships from the heat inside their machines. Smoke and dust added to the trials of the troops.

In the vicinity of one populated point the Red army repulsed several German attacks but on all other sectors of the Belaya-Glina front they were forced to retreat by the weight of superior numbers of enemy troops and greater German power in equipment and aviation.

The Soviets were continuing to prevent the Germans from reaching the Don in the Klatskaya region where fierce battles are taking place, chiefly between mechanized units spread over a 70-mile radius.

The Germans are increasing their air action, heavily bombing Red army forward defense lines.

Red Star declared that on one sector of the Don elbow front the Germans were badly defeated in a large-scale tank battle and forced to withdraw.

The battles south of Beyla-Glena were among the most severe to date. The Germans captured several Soviet defense positions but at the cost of heavy losses.

Another big battle was in progress near a railway station in the Kostelnikovo region southwest of Stalingrad where the Russians were forced to withdraw in some places.

(The Exchange Telegraph company reported that the battle for control of the Stalingrad-Krasnodar rail line in the vicinity of Kotelnikovo remains indecisive. The German offensive there was said to be meeting wtih determined resistance. Both sides threw in large masses of armored equipment in the see-saw fighting, Exchange said.)

The high command in announcing the presence of enemy troops around Kotelnikovo said that the Nazi advance cost Von Bock heavy losses.

New reserves for the Soviets in the western Caucasus were revealed in a communique which said tersely that Russian troops were fighting fierce engagements south of Belaya-Glina and south of Kushchevskaya, indicating that the defenders had dropped back beyond the localities mentioned.

The situation for the Russian forces in the Caucasus deteriorated rapidly as the Germans during the past 24 hours gathered fresh momentum in the full-scale offensive.

Attacks were made persistently by Nazi tank, motorized infantry, and parachute troops.

Von Bock appeared to be striving to encircle the Russian forces battling in the Kuban valley area in a thrust to seize the vital Maikop oil fields, 125 miles south of Belaya-Glina.

(In London the Daily Express carried an unconfirmed dispatch from Stockholm stating that the Russians were setting fire to the Maikop oil fields as the Germans drove nearer. The wells provide Russia's best aviation gasoline.

(Axis reports claimed that German forces already had crossed the Kuban river barrier and had seized localities, including Kropotkin, only 75 miles from Maikop.)

Around Klatskaya, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, repeated German attacks were repelled and 1,200 Nazis killed, the high command said.

"On the northwestern front," it was said, "there were lively artillery exchanges." There was no elaboration of this announcement but yesterday it was reported that Soviet Gen. Grigori Zhukov had developed a full-scale offensive in the Rzhev area, northwest of Moscow, and that violent battles were under way.

Favor North Africa As Site For Offense

WASHINGTON — (NS) — The view prevails in some leading United Nations diplomatic quarters in Washington today that North Africa might prove a more logical place for the launching of a major Anglo-American land offensive against the Axis this year than western Europe.

It is felt in these quarters that a diversion move in North Africa might involve less risk and have a greater chance to swift success than an attempt to invade the continent of western Europe.

The objectives of such a move would be to drive the Italo-German forces of General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel out of Egypt and Libya, threaten Italy with invasion, and force Hitler to occupy all of France, Spain and Portugal.

If such an offensive should show signs of success, it is believed French North Africa might be won over to the United Nations cause, and the British position in the Middle East made secure.

In addition, it is felt by these diplomatic observers that if Hitler was forced to occupy all of France, Spain and Portugal, it would prove far more of a hindrance than a help to him, and probably would compel him to divert planes and troops from the Russian front.

If the support of French North Africa could be secured, it is pointed out an American expeditionary force might be able to move through French Morocco and attack Rommel in the rear, while the British imperial armies moved up through Egypt.

Soviet Russian sources are understood to be skeptical of the practicality of such a diversion move in North Africa. The Soviets believe Hitler would sacrifice the Axis position in North Africa rather than divert any forces from the Russian front to save Rommel.

Europe Tense Over Second Front Issue

LONDON—(AP)—European capitals exhibited growing tension today as official quarters combined with the press and radio to keep the second front issue a dominant theme.

Broadcasting from London, Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy of the Dutch government in exile told his countrymen in the German-occupied Netherlands last night that the tide of war is turning and urged them to "await with wise patience the moment when the call comes from here not only to take a passive but also an active part" in the opening of a new front.

At the same time the Moscow radio declared that "every day brings nearer the time when the agreement signed between Britain and the U. S. S. R. on the urgency of establishing a second front in Europe will be put into effect."

Anxiety over the situation, the Russian broadcast said, "is driving the Hitler gangsters to furious and frantic efforts in south Russia."

German preoccupation with the second front issue was reflected in a fresh flood of propaganda from Nazi sources emphasizing the strength of the defenses being completed in western Europe.

Captured Bombers Beat Back Germans

LONDON — (U.P.) — Jugoslav guerrillas under Gen. Draja Mikhailovitch have used two captured German dive-bombers to help beat back Axis occupation troops in spreading battles, reports reaching the Jugoslav government in exile said today.

Moscow radio said two Junkers 88's seized at a German airdrome enabled the Jugoslavs to capture Kijuc and several other Croat villages. Mikhailovitch's forces were said to have captured other enemy planes, but were unable to put them to use because of lack of fuel.

The heaviest fighting was reported spreading throughout Croatia and Slovenia, where the Germans and Italians were said to have begun large scale attacks.

In Slovenia, Italian planes bombed 10 villages and burned them out completely. Jugoslav headquarters said many other places had been bombed less severely.

Jap Officers Flee From Bombings

CHUNGKING — (NS) — Japanese military headquarters in Hankow are being shifted to inconspicuous places as a result of repeated heavy bombings by the U. S. air force, a Chinese military spokesman declared today. The Rising Sun flag is no longer displayed over military establishments, he added, for fear of identifying the quarters to the American pilots.

In the land fighting in Kiangsi province, the spokesman said, Chinese armies are continuing the offensive. New attacks have been launched on Linchwan, Kewiki and Tungsiang.

General Drives a Jeep

Big command cars are not for Maj. Gen. Charles F. Thompson, jr., commander of Camp Croft, S. C. He prefers a gully-jumping jeep as his personal staff car and, in fact, he doesn't even use a chauffeur. The general is shown, right above, as he piloted Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, chief of the Fourth corps, on a tour of the camp.

INDIA WARNED BY BRITISH

Cripps Says Every Effort Will Be Made to Preserve Order.

is that if Mr. Gandhi and his congress colleagues were to explain to the India people that their freedom was assured before all the world as soon as hostilities cease, and further that freedom depends on the success of the struggle of the United Nations, then there would be no danger whatever of a burst of welcome to the Japanese.

"The danger—if danger there be—arises from the attitude and propaganda of Mr. Gandhi and his friends."

It was not too late, Cripps said, for the India people to decide upon "rapid, ordered progress," but he said regarding the immediate independence demand:

"Is it practical in the middle of a hard fought war in which the United States of America, China and Britain are exerting all their strength to protect the eastern world from domination by Japan?"

He said the only result would be chaos, that the evil minded could pillage all India and that crime would run riot.

Meet To Vote On Civil Disobedience

BOMBAY, India — (U.P.) — Nationalist leaders met formally today to vote mass civil disobedience against British rule with the alternative that if India is given political independence at once they would aid the United Nations against Japan.

Mohandas K. Gandhi prepared to take the active lead in mass civil disobedience and was reported to have told his followers that his "non-violent" campaign would bring victory within a month.

In preliminary meetings, the working committee or executive of the Nationalistic All-India congress had drafted a resolution which they said was a declaration of war against British rule, a demand for immediate and complete independence.

Today they met to approve and to implement their declaration.

It was believed that Ghandi would make the declaration in a public speech, warning the Viceroy, the Marquess of Linlithgow, that he had one week in which to hand over India and threatening that if he did not the whole Indian nation would rise.

TALKS FRIDAY

McGregor to Appear at G. O. P. South Park Rally.

Congressman J. Harry McGregor, seeking re-nomination on the Republican ticket, is scheduled to speak at a G. O. P. rally at 6:30 p. m. Friday at South park. It is expected to be his only primary campaign talk in the county.

Sponsored by the Richland County Republican campaign committee, the rally will give primary candidates their only remaining opportunity to appear before the voters. County and district candidates will be introduced.

A covered-dish dinner will be served preceding the talks.

Inland Steel Union Tells Company Collect Its Dues.

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The first maintenance of membership agreement in "Little Steel" was in effect today under terms of a contract signed by the Inland Steel company with the United Steel Workers union (CIO).

The contract also included a 44-cent a day wage increase recommended by the war labor board. All workers in the union on Aug. 1 are to remain as paid members as a condition of employment for duration of the contract. The dues are collected by the company and paid directly to the union.

ing the sea lanes. The situation is much better than it was a year ago, when several convoys in the North Atlantic took severe beatings.

British and American naval officials keep the results of their anti-submarine campaign secret, but it is known that the Germans are paying the penalty for their audacity.

An important factor in the increased German sea and air war is an attempt to close the long and dangerous Allied supply route to Russia through Murmansk and Archangel. German claims of sinkings around the north cape of Norway are doubtlessly exaggerated, but it generally is admitted that the Allies have suffered losses.

applicants can be given even the most intricate examinations for enlistment. The unit will arrive at 5 p. m. and will tour the city. Later, it will be parked at Central park and will be open for public inspection.

Dombey's recruiting staff will conduct an enlistment campaign all day Friday to obtain skilled workers from this area for navy construction battalions. Men are needed as electricians, riggers, tractor and steam shovel operators and in other skilled trades.

Applicants previously rejected because of minor physical defects may be eligible. Under the physical standards of the construction battalions, color-blindness, and dental replacements can be waived in favor of skill or experience, according to Lieut. Dombey.

James Brownscombe is in charge of arrangements for the program. Music will be supplied by the Westinghouse union orchestra. Motion pictures of naval life will also be shown.

The program will be opened with a flag-raising ceremony and the orchestra playing the "Star Spangled Banner." Mansfield organizations, including the Navy Mothers' club will be represented.

BONUS BUBBLE

KEENE, N. H.—(AP)—Told that the No. 7 coupon of her sugar rationing book represented a "bonus" of two extra pounds of sugar, one woman here took the word literally, and wound up at her rationing board demanding clarification.

"Isn't the No. 7 coupon a bonus?" she asked.

"It is, Madam," a board member replied.

"Well," she said, "the storekeeper made me pay for it."

1,500 JOIN PHONE STRIKE

Telephone Workers, said he had arranged to meet today with F. M. Stephens, operating vice president of the Ohio Bell Telephone company, in an effort to iron out the situation which threatens to cripple telephone communications in northeastern Ohio.

Labor Secretary Frances Perkins certified the strike to the WLB late yesterday, but the board immediately notified those involved that it "will not consider the merits of this dispute as long as the strike continues. The board expects that, as loyal citizens, the employes of the company will immediately end this strike and return to work."

Hudson explained that his council is composed of maintenance, installation and repair employes who seek wage increases commensurate with the 44-cent daily raise given "little steel" on wages now ranging from $20 to $58 weekly.

"While we are one federation," Hudson went on, "the three councils are separate autonomous unions. We work closely in harmony, but each works separately in negotiations. Our problems are different because our work is different.

"Now, according to these telegrams, the WLB has thrown our three cases into one classification. That is impossible because of the great differences not only in our problems, but in the status of our cases with the company.

"We cannot do anything under present conditions but continue to strike. When the situation is clarified, we will be in a position to consider our future action," he added.

Estimates of those on strike were 1,100 in the Cleveland area and 1,000 in the rest of the populous section, including 280 in Akron and 230 in Youngstown. Other cities involved were Canton, Alliance, Massillon, East Palestine, Lisbon, Niles, Ravenna, Kent, Columbiana, Girard, Chagrin Falls, Painesville, Mentor, Burton, Chesterland, Kirtland and Willoughby.

passage of physical examinations and departure for induction.

At the Union station, draftees mingled with friends and relatives on the lawn to the north of the Erie railroad tracks at North Main street. A special train waited to take the selectees to Marion where they will be transferred to another train for Indianapolis.

Today's special train left at 12:37 p. m., the same time the train with the first contingent pulled out yesterday.

The contingent from Board 3 will meet at the Richland county courthouse at 7 a. m. tomorrow. Buses will leave at 7:45 a. m.

Saltzgaber has urged Mansfielders to turn out early tomorrow to give selectees the same type farewell as was given those from Boards 1 and 2.

GREAT LAKES YIELD SCRAP TO WAR EFFORT

Some of Salvaged Vessels Found Suitable For Repair, Re-use.

DETROIT—(Wide World)—The depths and the shoals of the Great Lakes that have claimed thousands of ships and an untold number of lives since LaSalle sailed his famed "Le Griffen" from Niagara to Green Bay and to her doom in 1680 have begun to contribute to the war production effort of 1942.

Searching out precious scrap metal essential to the uninterrupted operation of the nation's steel mills, the special projects salvage section of the war production board is giving impetus to salvage operations on all the wrecks that can be raised.

In addition to scrap, it expects to find that a number of craft, once brought to the surface, can be restored to cargo-carrying usefulness

There may be only a few of these, but none will be overlooked "If we can put back into service a freighter that would cost upward of a million dollars to build new, it would be distinctly worth while in the war effort, wouldn't it?" asked Thomas Little, jr., director of the salvage section

A few days ago Little and William Spicer, his assistant, saw the first of the old ships, victims of wind, explosions or other mishap, brought to the scrap pile here. It was the battered and twisted hull of the oil tanker Oswald Boyd which foundered in upper Lake Michigan in 1936 while carrying a cargo of more than 900,000 gallons of gasoline.

Out of the ship which looked as though its superstructure had been blasted away by gunfire, the Great Lakes Steel corporation expects to reclaim more than 1,200 tons of metal Under ceiling prices the scrap metal brings $17 a ton.

The entire shipwreck salvaging project is expected by WPB experts to yield upwards of 30,000 tons of scrap metal within the next two years. Before winter closes the locks and navigation generally, the salvage section experts hope to bring down several craft lost off desolate Keweenaw point in Lake Superior during the last decade and more

One of these is the steel-hulled 438-foot City of Bangor which went down Nov. 30, 1926, while carrying a cargo of automobiles.

Hundreds of the ships which went down in the lakes in the days before storm warnings aided navigation never have been located. All those whose locations are known have been listed by the salvage section.

One of the richest cargoes ever to go down in a lake mishap was in the hold of the steamer Pewabic, which had 300 tons of copper and other valuable material aboard when it sank Aug. 9, 1865, following a collision with the steamer Meteor, off Thunder Bay, Lake Huron. The crash carried 125 persons to death. Many attempts at salvaging have been made in the more than three quarters of a century since the tragedy, but lying in about 200 feet of water the Pewabic is not easily accessible.

One salvaging operation in 1918 brought up 72 tons of the copper, but the cost of the undertaking was too great to justify it, and the WPB salvage experts aren't thinking seriously now of attempting to recover the cargo.

Among the ships the WPB salvage experts believe may be brought up and reconditioned for service are the steamer Novadoc, a 253-foot pulpwood carrier, and the 360-foot sand boat Material Service.

The Novadoc went down in Lake Michigan, off Pentwater, Mich., in the storm of Armistice day, 1940, after breaking in two. The Material Service carried 15 men to death when it sank in a storm off South Chicago, July 29, 1936.

The officials of the salvage section make it clear that the WPB neither finances nor supervises actual salvaging operations. It seeks out the wrecks and encourages commercial salvage companies to undertake the operations, brings owners and possible purchasers of the scrap material together and aids in details connected with clearing title to the abandoned vessels.

HAWAII PILOTS NICKNAME OWN PURSUIT SHIPS

Names Are Ceremoniously Painted on Planes When Taken Over.

(By United Press)

HONOLULU — Wheeler Field's pursuit plane pilots who hastened to man their planes during the intensified alert here while the Battle of Midway was raging, called for their sky ships by name instead of number.

For Squadron Commander Capt. J. O. Beckwith, of Burlington, Vt., it was "Squirt II" named for his 10-year-old daughter Margaret, whom he's affectionately called 'Squirt' since her infancy.

Pilot J. R. Sawyer, of Chicago, seeks out "Thunderbird III" He's 1-16th Indian, and insists that the legendary bird of his tribe's folklore provides a charmed might.

Others are 'Nancy' 'Margaret' "Colleen" and 'Honey Chile," all named for the girls the boys left behind them while a more masculine phase of sentiment results in Smoky Joe' 'Ole Man Mose' and Spittin' Maggie'

"Names give personality to your ship" Capt. Beckwith explains 'Somehow your plane becomes not just a piece of machinery but an individual . . . something like the affection the cowman has for his horse.

"Take 'Squirt II' for instance She reminds me in so many ways of 'Squirt I' back home in Vermont . . . full of life and zip and verve Besides it pleases her a lot and look at the chance she'll get to crow over the other kids in school when I bag some Japs.

Names are ceremoniously painted on new ships as they're taken over by the pilots with squadron members kibitzing Then she's given a big drink of gasoline.

"No we don't break a bottle on her," Cap' Beckwith smiles That stuff's rather precious just now — we drink it for the launching ceremony."

PARENTS HAVE 11 IN SERVICE

LONDON—(INS)— Two of the proudest persons in Britain today are Henry C. Tottle and his wife, of Westcliff, Essex, for all their 11 children—ten sons and a daughter are serving their country.

Six of their sons Henry Oliver, Alfred William Ernest and Robert are in the Army. Three sons, Ronald Stanley and Leonard, are in the Royal Air Force, while the tenth son, is serving in the Royal Navy.

Then daughter Lillian not to be outdone by her brothers, is working on munitions.

Our fighting men are doing their share Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

MUNY COURT'S FINES CLIMB DURING JULY

Receipts For Month Total $2,690; Revenue For June This Year $1,943.

Steady increase in the volume of criminal cases disposed of in municipal court is shown in the July report of 210 trials or hearings, as compared to 196 in June, according to monthly statements compiled by Ralph A. Hughes, clerk, and Miss Marjorie Rhoads, deputy clerk.

Monthly increases have been general since the court was instituted a decade ago, court officials say.

Cash receipts in July were $2,690.94, divided as follows: fines and costs, city cases, $1,036.75; forfeitures in traffic cases, $417.25; state highway patrol cases, $475; state forfeitures, $135.60, costs, state cases, $626.34.

In June the total was $1,943.60.

Comparative figures were tabulated by Hughes to show the increase in court business as follows:

Month	1939	1941	1942
January	97	77	157
February	75	110	135
March	81	117	157
April	91	132	150
May	111	166	134
June	120	176	196
July	142	139	210

Institution of a full-time traffic patrol by the Mansfield police department and recently increased activity by the state highway patrol account for much of the increase, in the opinion of court officials who do not see any expansion of petty crime reflected in the figures.

BOOST SALES OF WAR STAMPS

CHICAGO— (U.P.) — Five braves, two squaws and an eight-year-old papoose named Sammy White Cloud are aiding sales of war bonds and stamps by presenting their colorful native tribal dances, according to the Chicago Defense Council.

The dancers, who hail from the Jemez pueblo, near Sante Fe, N. M., are sponsored by the Santa Fe railroad and the United States treasury, and are said to be among the finest Indian dancers in America.

They are descendants of the Southwest's fierce Indian warriors and their dances portray the ancient rites and rituals of a civilization that flowered before the discovery of America by white men.

After appearances in Chicago and surrounding territory they will tour principal cities in the United States.

Hear Testimony on Cargo Planes

A senate sub-committee hears testimony on the current cargo plane controversy from top-ranking U. S. militarists who are seen facing camera. Left to right are Admiral John Towers, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics; Brig. Gen. H. L. George, commanding general of the air transport command, and Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air corps. Senators sitting with backs to camera are, left to right, Josh Lee, chairman of the committee, Elbert Thomas of Utah and Edwin Johnson of Colorado. Arnold told the committee that he had been forced to divert bombers from combat service to carry cargo because sinkings by Axis submarines had reduced available shipping.

Iodine 'Cocktail' Aids In Cases of Hyperthyroidism

BERKELEY, Cal. —(INS)— Dr. Joseph G. Hamilton, research associate in the radiation laboratory at the University of California, has revealed that one drink of a radioactive iodine "cocktail" is proving successful in the treatment of hyperthyroidism.

Encouraging results have been obtained, he said, with the radium-like iodine, which is produced in the atom-smashing cyclotron. It concentrates in the thyroid gland about 10,000 times greater than in other parts of the body.

He declared that it concentrates more heavily in the affected cells than in normal ones.

Three cases of hyperthyroidism have been treated by the laboratory doctors. In two cases the clinical symptoms of the disease had disappeared in three months. In the third case, the disease reappeared in four months but after a second "cocktail" disappeared again.

Reports on the new treatment were read by Dr. Hamilton at Atlantic City, N. J., recently.

He stressed that radio iodine shows no promise in the treatment of cancer in the thyroid gland in that the cancer cells are unable to absorb radioactive iodine.

URGE DEATH

MANCHESTER, England — (U.P.) —Death for black marketeers.

This was the penalty demanded by women when 500 housewives, factory workers and business women attended the first meeting of the Lancashire Women's Parliament in Manchester recently.

Americans spent $130,000,000 for toys and games in 1941.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BIO-MINERAL FOR BETTER HEALTH!

WITH YOUR OWN EYES! SEE AND BELIEVE the relief you get from these ailments. By a NATURAL astonishing easy way. Without the use of harmful durgs. You may UPROOT and drive them OUT of your system. Regardless of how long you have been suffering. It takes ONLY 3 days to prove it. To SEE—NOT to guess the results.

DRUGLESS HEALTH—NATURE'S WAY . . . Cathartics DO NOT CURE constipation. Doctors can tell you that! BIO-MINERAL is NOT a cathartic. It works the NATURAL way. Watch your elimination from your bowels after taking BIO-MINERAL. In 2 or 3 days, the waste, black as coal and hard as rock, may break from the walls of the colon, and you will see it in the stool. It is almost unbelievable that such waste could be in your intestines, UNTIL YOU SEE IT!

AFTER 3 DAYS examine your urine. You may see small pieces of white stone, threads and crystal-like matter, which should not be in your system—POISONS—coming out, relieving you! THESE poisons, collecting there probably for years, like rust in an old iron pipe, were weakening your kidneys and ruining your digestive system. Be sure to watch for these symptoms to realize the priceless value of BIO-MINERAL.

With Your Own Eyes! See and Believe!

PHARMACISTS—CHEMISTS do not make BIO-MINERAL. It comes from the depths of the earth, Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol—NO drugs—NO dope—NO oil. NOT a SINGLE habit forming ingredient. 86 CANDIDATES FIGHT FOR OHIO CONGRESS JOBS

Despite Big Field, Campaign In State Plods Along In Drab Walk.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Drab primary prospects, rationing and sultry summer days have slowed campaigning down to a walk but have not discouraged candidates for nomination to Ohio's 23 congressional posts.

Routine handshaking, letter-writing and speech-making are in progress in most districts but primary campaigning has hit a new low. Most of the congressional campaign activity has been by "outs" seeking to oust incumbents.

Most of Ohio's incumbent congressmen have remained in Washington believing that they could best serve their candidacies by continuing to serve in the house of representatives. Some, such as Rep. Lawrence E. Imhoff (D.) 18th district, have made periodic trips home to confer with political leaders.

Of the 87 candidates who had filed declarations of candidacy by the June 11 deadline only one, Robert T. Secrest of the 15th district, will drop out. Secrest, a Democrat and a so-called "split-isolationist," resigned from congress to accept a navy commission.

The remaining 86 candidates, four of whom are women, include at least four former congressmen and 23 incumbents seeking renomination. The candidates in the field range from physicians to playwrights, from soldiers to salesmen and machinists to draft board members.

One of the most colorful is 88-year-old Jacob S. Coxey, sr., of Massillon, leader of the famous "Coxey's army." He is opposing Rep. William R. Thom of the 16th district for the Democratic nomination.

Other candidates include three soldiers, three physicians, two playwrights, two Townsendites, a pair of school teachers, a machinist, a traveling salesman, a newspaper man, a barber supply salesman, a steel worker, a minister and a number of attorneys and county and municipal officials.

The 86 candidates are battling for Ohio's 23 congressional seats. The state will have only 23 U S representatives during the next two years because one congressman-at-large post was abolished in the last congressional reapportionment.

Rep. George Bender (R.), Cleveland, and Rep. Stephen Young (D.), Cleveland, are unopposed nominees for the state's single congressman-at-large seat.

Nine other Republicans and four additional Democrats will be unopposed in the Aug. 11 primary. The 10th and 15th districts are unique in that they are the only districts without Democratic candidates on the ballot.

Secrest's name will appear on the ballot in the 15th district but he will withdraw from the race after the primary. Dr H T. Phillips, state senator, will oppose Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins for the Republican nomination in the 10th district and Democratic committee of the district will select a candidate.

Most crowded field is the Democratic race in the 12th district where there are six candidates. The 5th and 12th districts, with a total of eight candidates each, have the largest entry lists.

Other unopposed Republican candidates include William E. Hess of Cincinnati, 2nd district; Harry P. Jeffrey of Dayton, 3rd; Robert F. Jones of Lima, 4th; Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, 7th; Frederick C. Smith of Marion, 8th; A. D. Baumhart, jr., of Vermilion, 13th; Harry T. Marshall of Cleveland, 20th; William J. Rogers of Cleveland, 21st; and Frances P. Bolton of Lyndhurst, 22nd.

Democrats other than Young who are unopposed are Jacob E. Davis of Waverly, 6th district; John F. Hunter of Toledo, 9th; Dow W. Harter of Akron, 14th; and Michael J. Kirwan of Youngstown, 19th.

Capt. George H. Smith of Spring Valley, Democratic candidate in the 7th district, and Carleton C. Reiser of Napoleon, an army officer and a candidate for the Democratic nomination in the 5th district, are campaigning through their friends. Both are stationed at out-of-state posts.

Private John T. Siemon of Kenton, who is stationed with the army air forces in Salt Lake City, is campaigning through transcribed speeches for the Democratic nomination in the 8th district.

Women candidates for congressional posts include Frances M. Behr of Dayton (D.), 3rd district; Bess Willis Criswell of Columbus (D.), 12th district; Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Lyndhurst (R.), 22nd district; and Mildred R. Jaster of Cleveland (D.), 22nd district.

REFLECT WAR

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— The exploits of America's sharp-shooting soldiers and the hard-hitting motor torpedo boats seem to be affecting the amusements parks. Park managers in Cleveland report that the two concessions showing the greatest increase in business this season are the shooting galleries and the motor boat rides.

EXAM PAPERS SHOW 'BONERS'

Correcting Test Papers Not the Dull Routine One Would Expect.

(By United Press)

BERKELEY, Cal. — Correcting examination papers at a large university is not all dull routine. Now and then the professors come across some choice "boners."

Here are some gathered in a survey by the Daily Californian, student publication of the University of California:

"The dome of St. Clement's is supported by eight peers all of which are unfortunately cracked."

"Browning wrote principally heroic cutlets."

"Shakespeare lived at Windsor with his merry wives."

"A spinster is a bachelor's wife."

"The object of 'he' is 'she.'"

"William Tell shot an arrow through an apple while standing on his son's head."

"The opposite of pessimist is bigamist."

"A grass widow is the wife of a vegetarian."

"The Mediterranean and the Red Sea are connected by the Sewage canal."

ICELAND BREEZES COMPLEXION AID

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (U.P.) — Private Charles E. O'Rourke of the U. S. marines, back from Iceland, said that the northern climate was excellent for the complexion.

"Why, tough marines acquire a skin just like a baby's," he said. "Something about that damp-sub-Arctic climate make skins so soft most of the fellows were almost embarrassed. After all, a baby-faced marine is unthinkable."

O'Rourke, home on furlough, said the troops became accustomed to everything strange about Iceland except the lack of trees. The only ones growing there are in hothouses and Icelanders gather around them on Sunday afternoons like Americans at the zoo.

CHAPTER XXI

At that moment in the dining room of the house, Audrey, Morley, and Leslie sat together at dinner, and were finishing the last of Yorkshire pudding and roast beef.

Leslie put down his fork, wiped his lips with his napkin, stared blankly, thinking of something. Audrey, twirling a wine glass, clinked it against the back plate glass table top. "How was it dear?" she asked Leslie. "I had cook make it especially for you."

Leslie turned his ascetic face to hers, pinched it and smiled.

"You've been as quiet as a mouse in a pet shop. Are you feeling well?"

He glanced at Morley, imperious, the candle-light playing queer tricks on his angular face.

"Well, Leslie, I asked you a question."

"Sorry, Mrs. Blake, it isn't right for me to talk at table."

"Nonsense!" she laughed, "whatever silly person told you that?"

"Mr. Morley."

Audrey sat up straight, then remarked reproachfully, "Why, Clifford!"

Morley was lighting a cigaret, he waited until he got a full puff before saying, "I think it's best."

"But I don't think it's much fun. Surely you were joking"

"On the contrary, I was serious."

"I don't think you should give instructions to Leslie as to what he should do."

"That remains to be seen, my dear."

"Clifford, don't be so petulent about this."

"The wrong adjective. 'Adamant' you should have said."

"And you mean you're really serious?" She sat with her hands clasped tightly on the table top, looking at him.

Leslie had lowered his head in embarrassment when they began their verbal exchange. Now his head was up and he listened bright-eyed to each word Audrey said.

Morley's smile was bland, his voice scornful. "Quite serious! I don't think it matters too much to him, and if it does, he must learn discipline, to obey."

"But if he wants to talk, he should."

"Not when I am around! You want him to be allowed to stay with you, don't you?"

"Yes"

"Well, then, he must do as I say"

"I think you are unreasonable."

"To insist that he take orders from his stepfather—me?"

Audrey's head dropped a little. "I see," she said. "I see" She lifted her eyes to Leslie sadly His eyes were filled with tears.

"Thanks awfully, Mrs Blake, for understanding."

"It will come out all right Be patient."

"Remember what I told you," Morley warned

"I remember, Mr Morley I'm speaking to Mrs. Blake."

"I told you not to. If you must do something, leave the table; go!"

Leslie stood at the side of his chair. "Yes. I will. But if I go, I'll go for good, back to England. I'll be one of the roof scouts, looking for enemy planes."

"Leslie, don't say such a foolish thing," Audrey said.

"Pardon, sir."

They all turned toward the door in surprise. The new butler was standing close to them, chin up, hands stiff at his sides, as though he had said "Pardon, sir" fifty times during their argument, and had not ben heard.

"Yes, yes, what is it?" snapped Morley.

"A Mr. Lewis, sir, wishes to speak to you."

"Hang up. Tell him I'm not at home."

"Sorry, sir. Mr. Lewis is not on the telephone. He's in the foyer"

"Tell him I'm not at home. Get his telephone number and I'll call him tomorrow."

"Hello, there, Cliff, old boy! May I come in?"

Gordon stood in the entrance to the dining-room. He had overheard their voices, and not wanting Morley to stall him, had entered of his own will

"Well, well, Brad Lewis, how are you?"

"Fine I heard your voice and had to rush right in."

"I had just told my butler to ask you in Oh, Brad, this is Mrs. Blake who will soon be Mrs. Morley again. Dearest, this is Brad Lewis. And this is Leslie Curtis, an English refugee."

Gordon spoke to Audrey formally, "How do you do?" Then he shook the hand of the English boy.

Audrey got up and stood transfixed. She had not uttered a word since she saw him He gave her an understanding look. She slowly began to accept his incognito.

Morley asked Gordon whether he had had dinner.

Gordon forgot to answer; he was still laughing inwardly at Audrey's surprise, that he should be introduced as Brad Lewis, be there with Clifford Morley, and not acknowledge that he knew her. Finally, he said, "I've had dinner already; before I started from Denver."

Audrey was more beautiful than ever, Gordon thought. She wore a dinner gown—a fluted skirt and sparkling jacket that glittered with her slightest move. Her hair was almost a reddish gold, in the candle light. It was cut in a long loosely curled bob.

"Lord, she is lovely." Gordon thought, and then wondered how her mind must be searching in vain for some explanation of this fantastic situation. The bewildered, uncertain look in her face could so easily have been that of embarrassment.

So she was going to remarry Morley!

"Please come in, Mr. Lewis. Sit down," she said

"Stay overnight," Morley added magnanimously.

Before he could answer she spoke to the butler, "Mr. Lewis will use the guest room next to Mr. Leslie's." She turned to Gordon "You'll find everything you want, Mr. Lewis. Make yourself completely at home." She stressed the word "Lewis" whenever she used it She wanted him to stay.

Points of light flashed from Morley's eyes Audrey moved toward her chair "Let's have coffee, shall we?" She stood still for an instant, then sat down.

Gordon saw her glance back at Morley, then at her plate, and toward the entrance as though she didn't know what to say. He felt sorry for her.

* * *

His own place was between her and Leslie. As he tried to settle her chair into place, she looked at him and said. "Thank you, Mr. Lewis, you're very gallant."

He stared at her, afraid she was going to spoil their game. All Gordon could manage was: "You shouldn't be surprised at that."

Morley put in genially: "I thought you were going back East with your stories. Don't tell me it's a longer story in Denver for you. Another blackmail story?"

"No, this time it's a murder mystery."

Audrey glanced quickly at Gordon: "Does Mr. Lewis write blackmail stories?" she asked.

Morley slapped Gordon on the back and burst out laughing. "He makes his living out of them."

Leslie set down his glass of milk with some vehemence. "I don't believe it."

"Didn't I tell you not to talk at dinner?" Morley shouted at the boy.

Leslie looked at him, and Gordon saw anger in his young face. Leslie excused himself and left the room.

"Shall we continue our own conversation?" asked Morley sipping his brandy.

Gordon watched Morley's face, high and sharp, dark with its almost cruelly handsome features, keen and intelligent, with a gift for detecting other people's weaknesses, sensitive and neurotic. He wore white gloves and ate with his left hand.

He looked better now than he had at Willoughby hospital, and he was dressed to kill.

Their small talk about weather and books drifted with the cigaret smoke.

"I wondered where you ran away to," said Clifford. Then turning to Audrey, he explained: "I got Lewis a job at the Willoughby hospital when I was having trouble with my hand, and one day, like a shot, he blew town without giving notice to any of us."

Gordon thought of the oracles. He didn't know why Morley impressed him that way, unless it was his dark face and the scar down his forehead where he'd been injured in the car wreck with Cora Leroy, that and his aura of mystery.

"I'll speak to you later and tell you all about it," said Gordon. "It would be boring to Mrs Blake.'

"On the contrary, Mr. Lewis, it would interest me very much," Audrey remarked sweetly.

"I've got a hunch for my murder story." Gordon said and looked at Morley "The funny part of it is, that seeing your phosphorescent hand in the hospital suggested it to me."

CHICAGO BUILDS HOSPITAL FOR MENTAL CASES

New $1,250,000 Institute Opened Recently For Research Work.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO — A new $1,250,000 Illinois Neuropsychiatric institute, called by psychiatrists the world's most modern institution for clinical research and study, was dedicated here recently.

Scientists dedicated the new nine-story structure to assisting in the mental reconstruction of postwar America. The hospital is devoted entirely to research and teaching in the fields of mental and nervous diseases.

Dr. Arthur Cutts Willard, University of Illinois president, said the hospital staff already was engaged in research in a half dozen directions.

Willard and other scientists present at the dedication emphasized the need for neuropsychiatry during the reconstruction period following the war.

Psychiatry can do much in postwar human relations to eliminate bias, prejudice, intolerance, fear and selfish commercialism, they pointed out.

They also expressed belief that research would reduce the taxpayer's load by reducing the incidence of mental disease. It costs Illinois approximately $300 a year for care and maintenance of each mental patient.

Directors of the institute said emphasis would be placed on study of diseases of the brain. Its researchists already have discovered a previously unknown fiber tract in the brain.

The University of Illinois College of Medicine and the Illinois department of public works constructed the hospital with federal assistance. They purchased the most modern equipment available.

BUDDIES MEET

SACRAMENTO, Cal. — (U.P.) — Vernon Hollinshead, a deputy sheriff on guard at a California defense project, asked a worker to show his pass before permitting him to enter.

Recognition flashed simultaneously on the faces of the motorist and Hollinshead when the pass was produced. The driver was Manuel Maciel of Sacramento, Hollinshead's buddy in France 25 years ago.

Both were buglers in the Seventh Division, 247th Field Artillery. They had not seen each other since their war days.

SPECIAL FOR REGION III

Reveals Narrow Escape of Greek King From Nazis

CHICAGO—(INS)—How an overnight visit to the inland hills of the island of Crete saved the life of the King of Greece was described in Chicago recently by Emmanuel Tsouderos, premier of the Greek government-in-exile.

Premier Tsouderos, who traveled in the United States and Canada in connection with the visit of King George, of Greece, to this country, recounted the capture of Crete by the Germans early last year. The king had taken refuge on the island.

"The first armed birds to fall from the sky in Crete," he said of the Nazi air invasion, "landed around the villa where the king stayed. Fortunately I had persuaded his majesty to spend the previous night at my house.

"If he had not been at my house in the hills, undoubtedly he and all in his party would have been killed by the invaders."

Tsouderos described how that very day a 95-mile march to the sea was organized. For three days the king, dressed in his military uniform; his cousin, Prince Peter, and some 50 other government officials treked through mountains to the Bay of Agi Roumeli.

Wake Island was discovered by the British in 1796.

FIRST-AIDER IS EAGER

PASADENA, Cal. —(U.P.)—Clarence C. McCoy's first effort to put into practice his first aid training drew him a traffic citation. He rushed across the street to help a woman who apparently had fainted, and was immediately handed a citation for jaywalking. The police judge, however, took into consideration the motives and circumstances.

FAMOUS HOCKEY SERIES HALTED

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (U.P.) — The annual hockey match between the Royal Military college, Kingston, Ont., and the United States Military academy — termed the "most sporting athletic event in the world"—is being discontinued for the duration.

Not a foul has been called since the series began in 1923 and no player has ever entered the penalty box.

Since the visiting team is never accompanied by an organized cheering section, the host cadets split into two sections, one to cheer for the Canadian players and one for the Americans.

The series trophy, donated by the R. M. C. 19 years ago, always remains with the losing team. After the Army's first victory in 1939, the U. S. Military academy presented the Royal Military college with a companion cup.

COUNTRY CLUB NOW HOSPITAL CRAFT 'NORCO'

Former Rendezvous For the Wealthy Now Houses Wounded Sailors.

(By Associated Press)

CORONA, Cal. — Marble halls of the Norconian club, former rendezvous for the wealthy and famous, now resound with the tap-tap of crutches of sailors wounded during the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

The one-time exclusive country club on Lake Norco in Southern California has been converted into a hospital "ship" for more than 100 victims of the Pearl Harbor attack. To its new staff and guests the palatial hotel is known as the U.S.S. Norco."

All "hands" eat in the "galley," which is the huge Spanish dining room. The beautiful ballroom is in navy jargon, a prosaic "deck."

Mornings, convalescent sailors and marines "leave ship" in wheelchairs and on crutches to explore the gardens and golf courses of the seven-acre estate.

For afternoon dinner diversion there are recreation rooms, indoor swimming pools, luxurious lounges, movies—and an occasional Hollywood personal appearance show—for the wounded heroes.

Then, when the "night watch" takes over, the boys retire to their "quarters," rooms that brought exorbitant rates during the millionaire era.

There is Dale Lyons, a machinist's mate, who has a letter of commendation from Secretary of Navy Frank Knox for staying by his post in a burning hangar until his left foot was blown off.

Corp. Charles Crawford, who saw six shipmates killed at his Pearl Harbor battle station and who suffered a serious leg injury, is already kicking around in one of the outdoor swimming pools piped with sulphur water from nearby natural springs. He is directing a show, "The Allstar Revue," organized among the patients and medical staff aboard the hospital ship.

Most occupants of this unique hospital came from ships that got the worst of the Jap raid — the Arizona, Utah, Oklahoma, and others. About 20 are commissioned officers and a few are marines.

The commanding officer is Capt. Harold L. Jensen, who was in command of the hospital ship Solace in Pearl Harbor when the attack came. Under his supervision, the heavily draped banquet halls and thick carpeted guest rooms are being remodeled into pleasant hospital wards, first aid stations, surgeries, therapy rooms and dispensaries. Ramps are being built so wheel-chair patients can get around more easily.

A large staff of nerve, bone and plastic specialists, all naval reserve officers, minister to the patients, with the help of 26 nurses under Supervisor Nellie Jane DeWitt.

"The hospital is for long term patients, men who are to be on the sick list for months," said Captain Jensen. "It's going to be a permanent service for the personnel of the navy and marine corps."

Develops Process To Recover Steel From Tin Cans

NEW YORK—(INS)—A process for recovering tin and steel from used tin cans—requiring no preparation of the cans on the part of a housewife—has been developed in a test plant at San Francisco, Walton S. Smith, vice president of the Metal and Thermit corporation, has announced.

The pilot plant," Smith asserted," is a complete unit with a capacity of over 6,000 tons. From its operations, suitable methods have been worked out for the recovery of about 24 pounds of tin oxide and almost a ton of scrap steel per ton of discarded cans. The tin oxide is readily smelted to a grade equivalent to Straits Tin. This is the grade of tin formerly secured from the Malay Peninsula, now in Japanese hands."

The San Francisco plant, which has been developing the process over a period of five years, handles the cans collected from the city of Oakland and nearby communities. It accepts empties and does not require special preparation for collection.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: Don't you think the celebrities I write about all the time deserve a chance to do a little columning themselves? I do. Tossing the typewriter around today is that star of the stage, screen and radio, Milton Berle. I'm going on a vacation.)

Milton Berle Says—

Very happy you asked me to do this column, Dorothy. (Asked me? I begged her!) If these gags don't click, it's because I'm using a noiseless, typewriter. When I started typing this, I was nervous and jerky. Now, I'm not nervous.

I am writing this beside my pool in Hollywood. (Pool! Are you kidding, Berle? It's a thimble with a diving board.)

I have the most wonderful neighbors. They're all so sweet and thoughtful. This morning I told them I was going to use my pool, so they all came over and took their wash out.

But don't get me wrong, Dorothy, I love Hollywood. And is it hot here! It was so hot (get ready folks, here comes a gag) the other day the mercury in my thermometer rose to the top and yelled "Help, Help." It was so hot yesterday that when I came home from the studio I found the ice cubes taking a cold shower.

I'm in the middle of my current picture, "Over My Dead Body." My last picture was "Whispering Ghosts." (Hey, Zanuck, who's my produces—a mortician?)

Every day at the studio, I eat in the commissary. The menu has sandwiches named after the actors on the lot. I ate the Milton Berle Special yesterday—the doctor says I'll be able to walk again in two weeks.

I was talking with Betty Grable in the commissary the other day and I know I was recognized. I overheard a visitor say: "There's Blondie and Deadwood."

Mr. Zanuck really does things up right. His newest innovation is finger bowls with trained goldfish in them so they can bite off your cuticles.

I hope that when this picture goes into the cutting room I won't suffer as much as I did in my last epic, "Whispering Ghosts." In that one I had more cuts than in a 10-cent shave.

I have a beautiful portable dressing room—if you can call a shower curtain with a stool in it a dressing room.

Hollywood is really a pretty dull town. There aren't many places to go at night. The other night my wife and I went to the Mocambo to dine and dance. The place is so swanky they have a tailor in the kitchen who does nothing but press the panties for the lamb chops.

The waiters are so independent they refuse tips—all they want is a gallon of gas.

One night the club was so crowded that when a bus-boy bent down they threw a table cloth over him and put four chairs around him.

The customers, of course, are very exclusive. I was introduced to an actress who was so stylish she wore a fur coat that matched her boy friend's toupee.

Out here in Hollywood no one does things i na small way. I know a producer who found a bag of sand in his back yard—so he went out and bought a camel.

I know one actress who punishes her children in a most novel way—she takes away their racing form.

It was very dull here Friday—Abbott and Costello didn't make a picture all day.

I saw a movie the other day that was so bad the actors stepped out of character and apologized to the audience.

Everything here in Hollywood is done just like in the movies. I attended the opening of a Chinese laundry on Hollywood boulevard and instead of breaking a bottle of champagne, the owner's wife threw a Jap through the plate glass window.

Of course everything happens to me. Last night I dreamt I was cast away on a desert island with Hedy Lamarr—and there was no one around to introduce us!

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Glamour factory at war:

There were no headlines when Jack Lubell went into the army. There was no bulletin when King Mojave entered the navy, nor when Jimmy Horne and Larry Steers and many more said goodbye to Hollywood for the duration.

Jack and King, Jimmy and Larry weren't famous. They were just "B" members of the Screen Actors guild, commonly called "extras." But they and others like them are already sorely missed in the picture industry.

CENTRAL Casting, the clearing house for extra talent, records that to date 625 men and women of its list of 6,500 have withdrawn from pictures either for military service or for war industries—425 of them into the armed forces. And this leaves Central and the studios in one heck of a jam without, paradoxically, benefiting the several thousand extras who remain.

The motion picture extra is in a field where labor is at once scarce and abundant. For the few, because they are the types most frequently needed in pictures, there is sufficient work to give them a comfortable living — in rare cases as much as $4,000 a year. For the extras as a whole, the cold statistics show that in 1941 55 per cent of the women and 37 per cent of the men earned less than $300—so much less in many instances as to fall below commonly accepted subsistence levels.

Those types most in demand are the youthful and dress extras. The percentage of extras who are photographically as well as physically "young" is small. The types of movies made in the past year or so, and increasingly this is true, have placed an accent on youth. As pictures more and more attempt to keep pace with current events—war themes—the accent on youth becomes stronger.

So the labor scarcity for this type of extra—young, good-looking, good wardrobe — will benefit the few of the type who remain. It will change nothing for the odd, distinctive types — the tenement mothers, the Spanish grandees, the plug-ugly pirates and others usable only rarely.

Central recently got a waiver from the Guild to register 50 new young men to fill its needs. Like the studios with their term contracts, Central signed up only boys with a fair chance of draft deferment. Typical problem. RKO needed 200 "soldiers" for "Sweet or Hot," and if "Gentleman Jim" at Warner Bros. didn't finish with its 200 young men that day RKO would be out of luck the next.

The war is hitting Central hard from another direction, too. Howard Philbrick, the manager, is losing his casting men—the ones who know the extra lists by heart—both to Uncle Sam and to better jobs in studios.

But the departure of the dress extras is going to cause no panic in the second-hand clothes industry. The boys who make their living with their wardrobes, it appears, are stowing same away in mothballs, refusing to sell out to newcomers. "I'll need my clothes when I get back," as one of them said.

SENATOR'S DAUGHTER WEDS

CARGO-CARRIER ADVOCATES IN STEEL INQUIRY

Call For Data on Supply as Blasts Ship Bureau For 'Negligence.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senate advocates of a cargo-carrier expansion program that would defeat the submarine menace searched today for a solution of the steel problem, which led the maritime commission to swamp the plan of A. J. Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder, to make 200 Liberty ships.

The defense investigating committee called Reese Taylor, chief of the iron and steel division of the war production board, to tell what he could of the steel supply and allocations.

Chairman Truman (D., Mo.), meanwhile, condemned the navy department's bureau of ships for "negligence and wilful misconduct" in dealing with a "vehicle important to the success of any invasion attempt."

He transmitted a committee report to Secretary of the Navy Knox as a basis for his charges, leaving it to the navy to decide whether the report should be made public.

Truman also accused the bureau of ships of "biased and prejudiced treatment" of the Higgins industries in insisting that the shipyard use models of the bureau's design "despite the repeated failures thereof." Whether he referred to the Liberty ships, or to other boats that have been built by Higgins was not stated.

"That the war effort has not suffered an irreparable injury is due largely to the ability and energy of Higgins Industries, Inc., and to its repeated criticism of the shortcomings of the designs prepared by the bureau of ships," the Truman letter to Secretary Knox said.

What the committee sought to learn today was why the maritime commission had to cancel the Higgins contract for assembly line production of the Liberty ships. The commission gave a shortage of steel as the reason.

The military affairs subcommittee of Senator Josh Lee (D., Okla.) took up a proposal to build cargo-carrying submarines of concrete, but Lee said his main concern, like that of Truman, was the steel situation.

Donald M. Nelson, director of the war production board announced yesterday that the WPB's committee on cargo planes had recommended that arrangements be made immediately to at least double the present cargo plane program.

TAKEN BY DEATH

13 KILLED IN CROSSING CRASH

53 Injured When Passenger Train Hits Bus In Mississippi.

(By United Press)

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss. — A check of hospitals and infirmaries today showed 13 persons killed and 53 injured in a grade crossing collision of a New Orleans-to-Chicago bus and an Illinois Central passenger train.

Officials of the Greyhound Bus company, operators of the vehicle, said the bus had stopped at the crossing just before the accident yesterday. A northbound freight train passed, they said, and then the bus started across, into the path of a southbound passenger train.

The train hurled the bus from the crossing with such force that it struck and seriously injured a pedestrian, Katie Mae Young of Hazlehurst, Miss.

The dead were:

Mrs. W. L. Dood, Crystal Springs; John Milton Landt, Syracuse, N. Y.; W. J. Rescorel, no address; Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. M. Shineburger, Erin, N. Y.; Mrs. Ella Smith, Crystal Springs; Mrs. James Smith, Crystal Springs; Roscoe Smith, Brookhaven, Miss.; Trudy Smith, Pine Bluff, Ark.; A. A. Zelderdrut, a flying cadet, New York state; three unidentified women.

Officials said the bus was operated by A. L. Owen, of New Orleans, whose injuries were slight.

DEATH CLAIMS MANSFIELDER, 36

Jonnie Mae Greenwood Succumbs At Sister's Home.

Miss Jonnie Mae Greenwood, 36, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Jewel Greenwood, 154 North Adams street.

Born Oct. 8, 1905 in Camphill, Ala., she had been employed in Cleveland before coming to Mansfield to live with her sister five months ago.

Beside the sister she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Greenwood and another sister, Mrs. Julia Lynch, all of Gadsden, Ala.

The body was removed to the Geiger Funeral home where friends may call before the body is shipped to Gadsden for funeral services and burial.

SMALL RATION STUMPS BOARD

Petition Washington on Problem of Model Airplane Gasoline.

WORCESTER, Mass.—A formal application for "one gallon of gasoline each six months" has stumped the local ration board.

The applicant is Clark Wesson, 12, who has a thimble-sized gasoline engine for operating a model airplane.

Conceding that the quantity sought wouldn't interfere with the war effort, Board Chairman Michael J. O'Hara said no machinery existed for authorizing purchases of such small quantities.

He has sent a "what to do" message to Washington.

KILLED BY TRAIN

UPPER SANDUSKY — (U.P.) — A Chesapeake and Ohio freight train killed Jaob Reis, 87, a resident of the Wyandot county home, yesterday.

SAWYER THROWS SUPPORT TO M'SWEENEY IN GOVERNOR RACE

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Charles Sawyer, national Democratic committeeman for Ohio, publicly has thrown his support to the campaign of John McSweeney of Wooster for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Sawyer told reporters yesterday in Washington after a visit to the White House that McSweeney would be his choice in Tuesday's primary election but added that he would not participate actively in the campaign.

"I shall vote for John McSweeney for governor," he said. "The Democrats of Ohio should be and I hope they will be sufficiently interested in this primary to go to the polls and vote their preferences."

McSweeney, outspoken supporter of the Roosevelt administration when he was in congress, faces four opponents on the Democratic ticket. Other candidates for the nomination are State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson; Clarence H. Knisley, former member of the state industrial commission; Walter Heer, Columbus business man; and Frank A. Dye, Columbus attorney.

Sawyer, en route to New York on business, said his White House visit had nothing to do with politics or patronage. He did not confer with President Roosevelt.

Raymond J. Jeffreys, legislative agent for the Ohio Society of Old Age Pensioners, today recommended that "all pensioners of Ohio, members of all pension organizations and friends of 'pensions,' vote for Clarence H. Knisley for governor, on the Democratic ticket."

Jeffreys said he had made a careful study of the record of candidates for the nomination and had decided that Knisley has "a humane interest in old age pensions."

MORE LEAVING

Two Mansfield Doctors Given Army Service Orders.

Increasing the total number of Mansfield doctors in the service to 18, two others will report for duty this week-end at army posts. The fifth Mansfield dentist to be called left yesterday.

Dr. Robert G. Angle was to leave today for the Army and Navy hospital in Hot Springs, Ark. He received his commission as a first lieutenant on June 29. A graduate of the University of Chicago and Loyola university medical school, Dr. Angle had practiced in Mansfield for about two years.

The second Mansfield doctor to report to Lockbourne airport, 15 miles south of Columbus, Dr. C. H. Bell, leaves Friday. He holds a captain's commission. Dr. Myron O. Reed of Mansfield, is already stationed at Lockbourne. Dr. Bell had been in Mansfield for the past 16 years.

Dr. J. H. Herring, dentist, will report this week-end at Camp Carson, Colo., as a first lieutenant. Dr. Herring set up practice in Mansfield five years ago. He is a graduate of Western Reserve university.

PILLS PUZZLE

Quick, Call the Cops, Those Japs Have Found New Weapon.

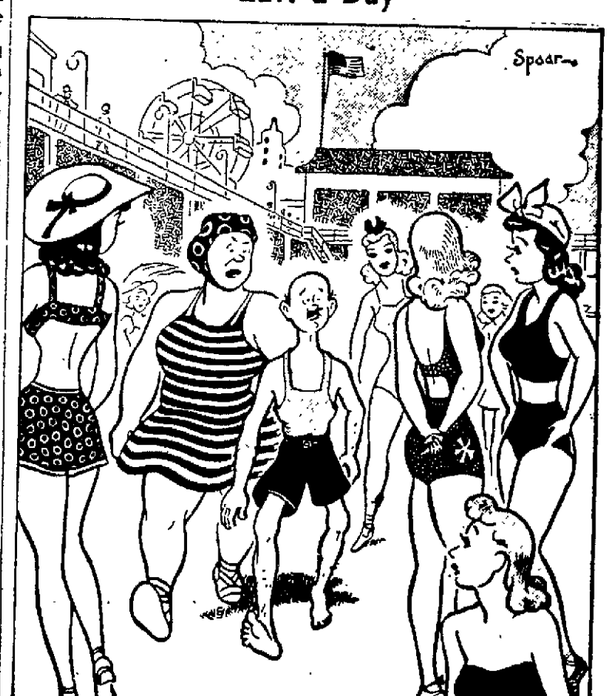
SAN FRANCISCO — A plane swooped low and residents found thousands of little pill-like objects on the ground.

Fearing some weird Japanese weapon, they called police. Laboratory experts studied the white pills and decided:

"It's tapioca."

The pellets didn't come from the plane; small boys had been using them in slingshots and peashooters.

Laff-a-Day



"You needn't be getting any exaggerated ideas about yourself. You just don't happen to have much competition nowadays!"

Unfathomable attachments often develop between animals of vastly different breed, size, purpose. A striking example of this is the firm friendship which has arisen between a once stray dog and Hytone, the blue-ribbon Tennessee walking horse of S. Glen Vinson. Left at Glenleigh stables two years ago, after being found forlorn and famished, the dog, Judy, soon attached herself to this particular horse and he returned at once the canine proffer of friendship. Now the dog sleeps in his stall, tags along as escort whenever Hytone is taken for a ride—and has become such an essential factor in the horse's life that she must be carried along when Hytone and his stable mates are trucked off to shows. Judy, in the verdict of the Vinsons, is an admirable and reliable watchdog—a stray which found a full purpose in life.

Mansfield's little movie actress, six-year-old Patty Hale, has started work on her fourth picture, "My Friend, Slicka," which is being filmed in technicolor in the Utah mountains. Patty's father, W. G. Schultz, has just returned from a visit with her and Mrs. Schultz who is with Patty on the movie set. The picture is being made by Twentieth Century Fox studios from a story which was published recently in Reader's Digest. It deals with a boy and his horse. Leading role in the movie will be played by Roddy MacDowell, the English boy who made a hit in "How Green Was My Valley." Patty will play the part of the daughter of the ranch foreman in the story.

Young John Stanton, just 15, is an authority on the business of bringing up rabbits. How he got that way is interesting. He was cutting the lawn last Saturday, and in an old apple tree stump he saw something moving—it turned out to be five rabbits. Since no mother was apparent, John decided to take over. He found an eye-dropper and every three hours he feeds them. They're hungry. But they are also very healthy, thanks to John's conscientious ministrations.

GET FUNDS

County, Cities and Villages Get $74,172 in Revenue.

The Richland county highway department and cities and villages in the county received $74,172 today in state automobile license funds to be used for road and street repair and maintenance.

Included in the allocation was $35,064 as the final distribution of money for 1941. The remaining $39,108 represents the second allocation of this year's license plate receipts.

Richland county's road department received $56,284, while Mansfield got $13,875 and Shelby, $2,300. The village of South Boulevards which has sought to participate in the license funds received $225. Rest of the money went to the other county villages.

JURORS WEIGH EVIDENCE FOR THREE HOURS

Two Associates Found Guilty as Publisher Faces '220 Years in Prison.'

(By United Press)

INDIANAPOLIS—William Dudley Pelley, a "native, Fascist," compared by the prosecution to Benedict Arnold, faced today a maximum penalty of a 220-year prison sentence and a fine of $110,000 for sedition.

A jury of farmers and small business men found him guilty last night of all 11 counts of an indictment charging conspiracy and sedition. It deliberated three hours and 15 minutes.

Lawrence A. Brown and Agnes Marian Henderson, his associates in the Fellowship Press, were convicted of conspiring to cause insubordination in the armed forces and hindering recruiting. They face maximum penalties of 20 years in prison and $10,000 fines.

Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell will sentence them Aug. 12. The defense has until Saturday to file motions for a new trial.

The jury also found the Fellowship Press guilty of seditious conspiracy.

Though several other persons have been convicted of sedition since Pearl Harbor, it was the first case in which the government had proved that utterances paralleling the "line" taken by enemy propaganda are seditious.

The highlight of the government's case was the testimony of Dr. Harold D. Lasswell, propaganda analyst, and Harold E. Graves, jr., assistant to the foreign broadcast intelligence director, that allegations published in Pelley's magazine, "The Galilean," paralleled 14 Axis propaganda themes.

Pelley was, until Adolf Hitler rose to power in Germany, merely one of a number of persons appealing with smudgily printed periodicals to the lunatic fringe. Inspired by Hitler, he organized the Silver Shirts with the idea of taking over the United States as Hitler had taken over Germany with his Brown Shirts.

In his summation, United States District Attorney B. Howard Gaughran shouted at Pelley:

"You are a traitor to your country, the arch Quisling of America, parading under a false face of patriotism while you stabbed your country in the back. You'll go down in history with Benedict Arnold and Aaron Burr."

Mrs. Roosevelt Repudiates Link With Communists

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, announcing her recognition of the right wing of the American Labor party, has tacitly repudiated the Communist party in the United States.

Right wing leaders of the ALP have charged that the left wing is dominated by Communists and their sympathizers and takes its line from Russia. The left wing had been using a letter Mrs. Roosevelt wrote to promote its candidates.

In a letter dated Aug. 3 and made public today, Mrs. Roosevelt told Eugene P. Connolly, secretary of the New York County committee of the ALP and a left-wing leader, to stop using her name and her letter.

She told him she admired Russia and the fight the Russians were waging and that Russia had a right to the kind of government it wanted, but she did not wish to be controlled in this country by a party that was, in turn, controlled by Russia.

THEY'LL GO TO PRESS AGAIN

Three Cincinnati Papers Set To Resume Publication After Strike.

CINCINNATI—(INS)—Three Cincinnati newspapers, the afternoon Times-Star and Post, and the morning Enquirer, today prepared to resume publication after a strike of pressmen yesterday prevented the two afternoon dailies from issuing even one edition and held the Enquirer to one edition.

Roger H. Ferger, assistant publisher of the morning paper, said that the International Pressmen's union (AFL) had intervened to make possible resumption of publication of the three dailies. The Enquirer, however, failed to appear this morning.

The situation brought on by the walkout was unique in that it was the first time in more than 100 years the Times-Star missed an edition because of labor trouble.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Hats Meet High Style Standards

Left, raspberry red straw hat with lattice-work brim; top right, apricot felt with crocheted insert; below, black organdie model with ruffled lace brim.

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer

Three top flight designers in a recent presentation launched new around-the-clock midsummer hat fashions that also hinted at fall millinery trends. From effortless sports hats to striking after-five originals, each hat was chosen to illustrate the fact that millinery will be able to go on wartime standard and at the same time meet the high fashion standard of the women of this country.

Conspicuously absent in the collection were the gadgets and furbelows of other seasons The milliners focused on the three-fold emphasis of silhouette, color and fabric to dramatize their theme. Their hats have a patriotic, morale-building role to play in that they present an exciting foil for the increasing basic, simple dress silhouette of war conservation

Prettiness is developed through needs becoming new colors and face-framing, flattering brims In these designs color and silhouette purposely take the place of extravagant trimming, and saddle-stitching, shirring and clever draping are used instead to create interest of detail.

Large Hats High and Wide.

In the showing large hats went high, wide and handsome with tall crowns and big, clean-cut brims. Among smaller hats, too, the crowns were on the up and up

The popular summer hues were gold, ochre, chartreuse, citron, apricot, natural, turquoise and black. Shades of early fall were featured in such color combinations as mountain blue with olive green.

Although straw and felt are priority-free, ingenuous use was made of fabric as well Sally Victor's contribution to drama after dark is shown in one of the above pictures. It is a cool black cotton organdie edged in chantilly lace, with a tall slightly gaucho crown and a deeply ruffled brim.

Lilly Dache created the raspberry red straw hat whose outstanding feature is its lattice-work brim, airy and very flattering

A unique color team was introduced in the third hat by John-Frederic It is a casual apricot felt with a crocheted insert of chartreuse between crown and brim It's one of the new, easy-to-wear models, and a perfect foil for your coat of tan.

REMINISCENCE CLUB.

Thirty-five members of the Reminiscence club enjoyed a covered-dish dinner at North Lake park last evening. Guests were Mrs Sylvester Porter and daughter from Noblesville, Ind., and Miss Marjorie Balbaugh of this city Hearts were played after the business session Recipient of the prize was Mrs. Henry Hayward. The Sept 2 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hayward, 202 Gerke avenue.

Timid Child Is Worry to Her Mother

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

An anxious mother recently wrote me of her problem with her little daughter.

"My little girl was seven the first day she started to school last year. She has always been a very timid child. I sent her to a kindergarten the summer before she started to school and she would go every day and seemed to like to go, but she would take no part in anything.

"Last year at school she would not even talk to her teacher, only shake her head. Sometimes this year she talked to her teacher out of school, but only occasionally at school. Her written work is fine and she reads well.

Timid Around Strangers

"I took her back after school several times. The teacher told me that she was a smart child and could read better than anyone in the class; her other work was good. She enjoys children and takes a main part in their play. She is timid around strangers, but a great talker at home and with friends.

"I have tried every way I could think of to get her to talk, but she will not. I have taken the teacher out riding. She talks to her then, and when I have her at home. She will only shake her head before the class. I have worried myself sick over this."

In the first place, mother, don't take the matter so seriously. I think I know how you feel, but I also know you want to get results. The chances are you have talked so much about the child's shyness to her, and to others in her presence, that she thinks she ought to be shy. Even if you have said nothing, you have betrayed your anxiety by the way you act and look.

Patience Needed.

Go on being patient with the child and keep in close touch with her teacher, who seems to be sympathetic, inviting her more often to your home.

I once taught in a country school, where I had a pupil seven years old who had gone to school the whole year without saying a word in class all that time. For three weeks she never spoke a word in school to me, although she was about the loudest and most talkative child on the playground. Happily, it occurred to me to ask her class to read in concert. Wonderful to relate, she joined in. I kept at this over several days, heartily praising her for her cooperation and telling her I liked her voice.

One day, when she looked very happy after reading in concert, I asked her to read alone. She did so, and read very well. From that time there was no trouble.

Now, mother, never say anything to your child about her failure to talk. Don't even act as if you know she doesn't always talk in school. When guests speak to her, betray no nervousness. If she does not shake hands, nor answer them, don't say a word, but draw the guest's attention away from the child. When your daughter does speak, show your approval by a generous smile, and when the guest has gone, tell her how proud you were of her.

A list of books on personality growth and mental growth may be had by writing me at 235 E. 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 7

A DISCONCERTING and difficult day, with dangers and sudden issues of an unpredictable nature, is read from the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. There may be much gained by travel, agencies, communications as well as writings, publicity, advertising and promotional enterprises, but these should be pursued with equanimity and restraint and not jeopardized by violent, erratic or tempestuous acts. The emotional urges may impel to bursting all bonds of reason and common sense, and cause grief and regrets if not accidents. With care and discretion there might be pleasurable as well as profitable experiences.

Those whose birthday it is may be confronted by a year of mixed influences with all depending upon their own self-restraint. Reasonable and governed conduct should subdue a tendency to the erratic, impetuous, rash, defiant and resentful course of impulse, waywardness and indulgence. Writings, correspondence, advertising, promotions, travel, communications and kindred mercurial pursuits would prove profitable. Social and artistic affairs are under auspicious stimuli. Litigation should be satisfactory.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

"Yes, he is coming this way," I whispered to Mary, then added a hurried caution.

"Please do not speak again, any of you. I will talk to him when he gets here, and if I think any of you should be included in the conversation, I will manage it."

I could not watch Mary's face, for my whole attention was fixed upon the man making his way toward our table, but I knew that she, Olina and Stephen Redfield were all sharing my own tense excitement.

However, we all were busy with our food when the old man halted by our table. He spoke hesitantly, in excellent English with just the trace of a foreign accent.

"Please pardon me for this intrusion, if I am mistaken," he said, "but am I not speaking to Mrs. Richard Graham?"

He was looking directly at me, and I found it difficult to feign the interrogative though courteous indifference, for which his query called.

Invited to His Table.

"Yes, I am Mrs. Richard Graham," I said, adding no word more, trying to give the impression that I would listen to him but wished him to be brief.

"I am afraid you will find it hard to forgive me, Mrs. Graham, for the request I am about to make," he said, "but please believe me, I trouble you only because I have just been given information which vitally concerns you, and which you should receive at once so that you may act upon it as you see fit."

There was impressive emphasis in his words and manner, but I told myself cynically that they probably were as false as his hair and beard. However, I already had determined on my course, and I spoke with a studied appearance of uninterested courtesy.

"Will you not sit down," I said, "while you tell me what you wish me to know?"

"I am desolated to refuse your very kind invitation," he said, "but there are vital reasons why I must speak to you by yourself. I am hoping that you will do me the honor of coming to my table while I tell you briefly what I must. I assure you that it will take but a few minutes."

Promises to Be Brief.

I looked steadily at him for a moment, then rose leisurely. Stephen Redfield rose as a matter of course, and as he pulled back my chair I spoke to him as well as to Mary and Olina.

"Do excuse me for a few minutes," I said perfunctorily. "I shall not keep you long."

"I shall bring her back very shortly," the old man told them, bowing in an unmistakably foreign fashion. Then he ushered me to his own table and seated me with an elaborate courtesy which I felt uncomfortably must be attracting the attention of everyone in the restaurant.

But I sat down with apparent nonchalant composure, looked attentively at my companion and silently awaited any disclosure he wished to make.

Has Risked Much.

I never can be sufficiently grateful to you for this kindness, Mrs. Graham," he said. "I have risked much to get a chance to talk to you."

So solemn, so urgent was the man's voice that it cut through the prejudice his flamboyant white beard and luxuriant white hair—so obviously a disguise — had brought to me.

"I hope I shall not disappoint you," I said impulsively, and knew intuitively his eyes, which I could not see behind their thick colored glasses, had flashed and lightened at my words.

"I shall begin, then, with a question," he said, "which I hope will not startle you."

Nevertheless I was startled when he put his query, in tense, low tones.

"Is not one of the young ladies with you the Princess Olina of Transvania?" he asked.

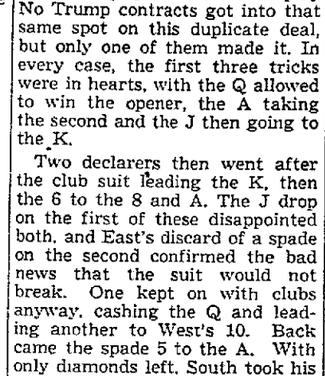
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

AVOID THAT DANGER

Any military or naval commander tries to know what the enemy would most like to have him do, and then makes sure that he does everything else except that. Usually, in a doubtful bridge hand, there is some one risk which the declarer must consider, and guard himself against that one hazard. In the case of a No Trump contract, he must not let the defender with a long suit gain the lead after it is set up. To prevent that, he may have to do all manner of things, including the overtaking of his own honors at the cost of wasting an obvious trick-taker.



(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♣
2 ♥	2 NT	Pass	3 ♣
Pass	3 NT

Several players who like to play No Trump contracts got into that same spot on this duplicate deal, but only one of them made it. In every case, the first three tricks were in hearts, with the Q allowed to win the opener, the A taking the second and the J then going to the K.

Two declarers then went after the club suit leading the K, then the 6 to the 8 and A. The J drop on the first of these disappointed both, and East's discard of a spade on the second confirmed the bad news that the suit would not break. One kept on with clubs anyway, cashing the Q and leading another to West's 10. Back came the spade 5 to the A. With only diamonds left, South took his A and led the J, East overtaking West's Q with his K and finishing with hearts, setting it three. At the second table, after the club Q, the diamond 8 from dummy was sent to the J and Q, a spade returned to the A, and the diamond A was South's last trick, the hand ending with East cashing hearts for three down.

One declarer, after the first three hearts, saw he wanted to lead diamonds twice toward West. He led to the fourth trick the club 6 to the Q, lost a finesse of the diamond J to the Q, took the returned spade with the A, led the club K to the A, finessed the diamond 10, dropped the diamond K with the A and took three more diamonds, making his needed nine tricks and giving up the last one with his heart 6 to the 10.

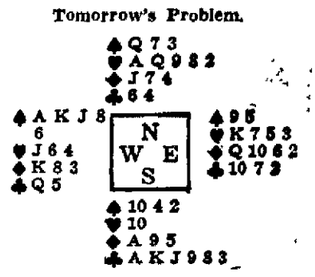
Tomorrow's Problem.



How many tricks can it cost East and West if, after two clubs, West, failing to notice his partner's high-low signal, switches to the heart J?

ON THE SPOT

MARSHFIELD, Ore.—(U.P.)—The state superintendent of parks needs special permission from the army to inspect the parks he superintends—if the parks are in one of the many west coast military zones.

Superintendent Sam Boardman paused at a park near here to inspect the shrubbery and spring flowers. Before he got within "sniffing distance" of the flowers, out stepped an armed sentry.

O.P.S. Evens Up City Softball Championship Series

Sport Podge by Rex Hess

From Wooster college comes a story "Special to the News-Journal" announcing that Mike Horvath, junior guard, and George Murray, sophomore tackle from Mansfield, expected to be regulars on the Wooster football team this fall, will play for Uncle Sam instead, Horvath having recently been inducted in the army, and Murray having enlisted in the Navy Air Corps.

The Wooster collegians could have read the same item in this column over a week ago, but I am still glad that they keep us informed on what's doing in the Presbytery.

Ordinarily Wooster handouts bear the tag "Exclusive to You in Your City," but modestly refrain from saying "First to You."

* * *

However, the rest of the yarn on the former Mansfield gridders is of interest, letting the home folk know in what esteem the ex-Tygers were held at Wooster. Here 'tis:

"Horvath, as a sophomore last season, won a starting berth as a guard and was expected to be one of Wooster's outstanding linemen this fall. He was an exceptionally good blocker, and Coach Johnny Swigart used him on defense to help back up the line.

"Murray was a freshman at Wooster last season and played either guard or tackle on Coach Bill Schroeder's yearling crew. His work indicated that he would be a likely candidate this fall to plug one of the holes in Wooster's forward wall caused by graduation."

Kind words are these from Wooster's Scots,
Who had two stars and now have not.

* * *

Coach Paul Snyder still groans when he recalls how Mike Horvath's talents as a line backer upper were wasted during Snyder's first year as tutor of the Tygers.

"They told me he was a whale of a tackle," says Snyder, "but they neglected to mention that he was a whale of a line backer, so I use him at tackle and what happens?

"We go to Massillon and take an awful beating, and we go to New Philadelphia and take a trimming, and at both places they are parading through tackle like the Irish down Main street on St. Patrick's day.

"It isn't the fault of Horvath at tackle He's doing all he can to flash the red light, but he had no authority back of him, no line backer who could finish the halting job he started

"So I am moaning at the New Philly game, and wishing out loud that we had somebody who could back up a line, and one of the subs on the bench said 'Horvath used to back up the line last year.'

* * *

"Why didn't somebody tell me these things! I moved Horvath to guard and had him backing up a line, and we didn't lose another game all season. And I don't think those Massillon and New Philly scores would have been so bad with Horvath in his right position."

* * *

It is being bruited about in informed circles that the Canny Scots of Wooster are planning a long-distance swifty on their brethren in the Ohio conference.

The conference, you'll recall, passed a rule permitting freshman participation in athletics "for the duration," but limited an athlete's activities to three years.

Now the Scots, so the story goes, realize that an athlete is one year older as a sophomore than he is as a freshman, and might be bigger and heavier, and maybe a better football player.

So they plan on using their returning veterans and keeping their freshmen on the bench so they'll still have three good years ahead of them while their rivals are running out of material in the post-war era.

* * *

Like all plans, it's good if it works.

But there seems to be some doubt that they'll have so many veterans back. They've already lost Horvath and Murray, and how many more hasn't been revealed.

But George Murray tells me that nearly all the Wooster football players with whom he's corresponded this summer are either in service or planning enlistment.

* * *

"I could play this year without worry about the draft," said young Murray, "but with everybody else doing something I didn't feel right staying at home." That's Young America talking, neighbor!

Beats Westinghouse In Wild Ball Game

Jim Musille Hurls Three-Hitter As Powermen Score 13 to 6 Win

OHIO PUBLIC SERVICE evened up the city softball championship series last evening at one game each by upsetting the favored Westinghouse club 13 to 6 before a crowd of 1,200 or more fans at Johns park.

Jim Musille of O. P. S. and Aid Geiger, Westinghouse ace, pitched their second game in two straight nights, and while Musille was even better than he was in the series opener, Geiger was without his usual stuff and was pounded hard and often by the Powermen.

* * *

Musille let the Westies down with three hits, and with a little bit of luck would have had a one-hit game in the books. Two of the hits were home runs that were nearly caught by Downs in centerfield.

* * *

Freddy Lewis got a circuit blow in the second inning when Downs lost his towering fly in the sun and barely got his hands on the ball, and Buck Forman also connected for a round tripper in the ninth which Downs leaped and touched after a long run, but couldn't hold on to.

But home run honors were even as O. P. S. also chalked up two circuit blows, both on hard drives to the clubhouse. Burton homered in the fifth, and Jim Musille smacked a tremendous clout almost past the clubhouse in the eighth.

* * *

It started out as a wild ball game, and kept up that way all through the struggle. Four runs were scored in the first stanza on only one hit, O. P. S. getting the lone bingle while pushing over two markers in the first half of the frame, while Westinghouse tied it up without a hit in the last half.

The Lewis homer gave the Westies a one-run lead in the second, but the real comedy was saved for the fourth when O. P. S. chased four runs across the platter without a single hit. Two walks, two errors, and a couple of fielder's choices that proved ill advised accounted for the quartet of markers.

O. P. S. sewed up the ball game with three more runs in the fifth on two hits, Burton's homer and a single by Oswalt, driving in Mowery, who had strolled. They got two more in the seventh on a single by Musille, a double by Oswalt, and a single by Downs, and two more in the eighth on Musille's homer following a single by Mowery.

Westinghouse got back in the ball game in the ninth when Forman homered, and Shade, after reaching first on an error, went three bases on a passed ball which Harper failed to locate against the screen.

* * *

Big George Hummel played his last game for Westinghouse last night, leaving for the army this noon, but the Westies will be strengthened for next week's games by the return of slugging Harry Ross, now on vacation.

The two teams meet in the third game of the series next Tuesday evening at Prospect park.

Propagation Areas Wanted

One For Each Township Declared State Goal.

COLUMBUS—(U P)—At least one natural propagation area for game birds and animals in every Ohio township is the goal of the state division of conservation and natural resources, Commissioner Don Waters announced today.

The division has set up 42 propagation areas on 648 acres, with farmers receiving $1 per lease. The division has leased 8,700 acres and plans to set up other propagation areas as soon as possible.

* * *

The propagation areas will give the sportsmen an increase in the amount of game, additional hunting space because only a part of each area will be posted against hunting and because farmers are agreeing to permit a reasonable amount of hunting on the rest of their properties and will not sell hunting rights to individuals or groups.

The farmer will gain better hunting, free development of game, seeds for food patch planting and raccoon and squirrel dens, Waters said.

Vocational agricultural classes and 4-H club organizations have been asked by Waters to furnish labor for the projects.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK—The National league has raised approximately $270,000 in its eight games for service relief funds.

"Top that, you bums," President Ford Frick might say to the American league in the parlance of the diamond, if he weren't so ultra-conservative that his most contemptuous snort is a sedate sniffle. The American not only won't top that figure, but will fall far short of even a tie.

The National raised $194,325.48 in seven games and expects to add about $75,000 to that when they are through figuring up returns on that final service fund battle of Monday night between the Dodgers and the Giants.

In five games, the American league has raised, by comparison, peanuts The total is $75,732.45, with three games to go, or three double-headers to be exact.

In these tussles, all scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 23, Washington will meet the Yankees in New York, Boston plays at Philadelphia and St. Louis at Detroit. These games will draw much better than they would ordinarily because the service fund is beneficiary, but they still can hardly hope to get their figure up even with the National's.

In the last double-headers played at those points on a Sunday, 17,645 customers turned out at Detroit to watch the Tigers against the Red Sox, 15,367 were on hand at Philadelphia for tilts between the Tigers and Athletics and 40,785 saw the White Sox with the Yanks at New York.

If that attendance is doubled in the aggregate, the American league still will be some $50,000 short of the National league. And you can go out and bet the difference will be much greater than that, unless, as previously set forth, they do something to stir up the customers. What they need over in that other league, the American, of course, is a real, good, sizzling rivalry like the one that has done so much to help put over the National's relief program.

* * *

President Horace Stoneham of the Giants swelled the figures on the New York-Brooklyn game purposely with one grand gesture. In plenty of time for everybody to know about it, he announced that he and Manager Mel Ott had decided to send Van Lingle Mungo, just in from the minors, against his old mates—the Bums—and the combination of the interborough rivalry and Mungo hurling for the Giants that night was enough to make the customers nearly beat down the gates.

What is the American league going to do about this in its remaining games?

The renouned "Dizzy" Kirkendall and "Fireball" Gerber were subjected to a five-hit barrage at the expense of the inspired upsetters.

Canadian Open Joust Starts

Ben Hogan Picked as Man to Beat for Title.

TORONTO—(U.P.)—American and Canadian golfers start the three-day medal grind in the Canadian open today and, almost without exception, they chose Ben Hogan, golf's leading money winner, as the man to beat.

Hogan heads a field of 112, including 32 professionals from the United States, seeking the championship abdicated by Sam Snead. The American PGA king recently enlisted in the Navy and could not defend the title.

Despite his overwhelming choice as favorite, Hogan, the year's top gold-grabber with $12,143, will have plenty of competition in his first crack at the Canadian title and its $1,000 first prize money. Four former titlists are entered, including George Cummings, the 1905 winner; Joe Kirkwood, 1933 champion; Gene Kunes, the 1935 champ, and Jug McSpaden, 1939 winner ousted by Snead in 1940.

Also rated high in the group of invading professionals from the United States are Craig Wood, Tony Manero, Lloyd Mangrum, Paul Runyan, Phil Turnesa, Ralph Guldahl, Clayton Heafner and Herman Kaiser. They comprise the largest and strongest invading American squad in years.

Paul Jesson Cops Westie Honors

Paul Jesson again copped medal honors in the Westinghouse golf league at Possum Run last evening with an even par 36. Only other league swinger to break 40 was Pete Zeides who turned in a 39.

Tribe Scores Six In Fourth To Defeat St. Louis Browns

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(INS)—The second-place Indians today held their somewhat insecure position after having whipped the St. Louis Browns 8-5 in last night's game, thus retaining their slim one-game lead over the third-place Boston Red Sox.

Denny Galehouse, the losing pitcher, had a sad fourth inning as six Redskins faced him, five hitting safely and one drawing a free pass to first. Ken Keltner and Oris Hockett opened the fourth inning rally with a single apiece, placing Hockett on third and Keltner on first.

* * *

Then Jeff Heath lined a double against the wall scoring Hockett. Les Fleming was handed an intentional pass to load the bases, but Manager Lou Boudreau gummed up the works for the Browns by scoring Keltner and Heath with another double.

Ray Mack duplicated his double play partner's two bagger and scored Fleming and Boudreau. That was all for Mr. Galehouse.

George Caster then took the mound and Gene Desautels shoved Mack to third with a neat sacrifice and Chubby Dean, the Indians' winning pitcher, walked. Roy Weatherly forced Dean at second, but Mack scampered home in time to tally the sixth run.

Boudreau's fumble of George McQuinn's grounder and Dean's wildness accounted for two runs picked up by the Browns in their half of the fourth. Walter Judnich walked and Junior Stephens scored McQuinn with a single. Chet Laabs then walked filling the bases and Judnich scored on Glen McQuillen's long fly.

The Browns gave Cleveland an unearned run in the sixth when Boudreau walked, stole second when Don Gutteridge dropped Rick Ferrell's perfect throw, and scored on Desautels' single.

Pitcher Dean was aided in the eighth by Harry Eisenstat who had a little trouble in the ninth and was relieved by Tom Ferrick. Dean received credit for the victory.

* * *

Willard Edges Locomotives

Emmer Gets 2 Doubles, Driving in 3 Runs.

Willard V. F. W. nosed out the Plymouth Locomotives 5 to 4 by pushing over one run in the last inning last evening in a seven-frame baseball game at Willard.

Willard scored only one earned run off Hammon, while all four of the Plymouth markers were earned, Wolfe driving in three and Emmer one. Emmer got two doubles, the only extra-base knocks of the ball game.

Bob Winbigler will be on the hill for the Locomotives when they go to Galion tonight to meet the Jaycees of the Ohio State semi-pro league.

Beazley Blanks Redlegs

Vindicates Southworth On Sale of Warneke.

(By International News Service)

WHEN Manager Billy Southworth sold the veteran Lon Warneke down the river to the Cubs to make room for young Johnny Beazley, fans in St. Louis said their pilot had done them wrong. That he should have kept Warneke with the Cardinals batting to keep within shouting distance of Brooklyn in the National league pennant race.

But today Southworth's move had been vindicated. Young Beazley hurled a three-hitter against Cincinnati last night to give the Red Birds their 12th shutout of the year and a 5-0 decision over the third-place Reds. Beazley's victory, his 12th of the season, kept the Cardinals within ten games of the Dodgers.

The Dodgers themselves received some fancy horsehide heaving in scoring a 4 to 0 twilight win over the Giants. Max Macon allowed only two hits, Mickey Witek's double in the sixth and Dick Bartell's scratch single with two away in the ninth, in posting his third straight decision since being brought up from the Dodgers' Montreal farm less than a month ago.

Tommy Hughes, reputed to be worth $100,000 on the auction block, scored his eighth win as the Philadelphia Phils beat the Boston Braves, 5 to 2. The slender, fast-balling right-hander permitted the Braves only five hits, thereby winning his third game in succession.

Pittsburgh defeated Chicago, 3 to 0, behind six-hit hurling by Truett Sewell.

In the American league, the Boston Red Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics with Tex Hughson dazzling the opposition with three-hit hurling. The victory was Hughson's 13th and placed him in a tie with Phil Marchildon of the A's as the leading winning pitcher in the junior league.

The victory kept the Sox within one game of Cleveland for second place behind the idle Yankees, whose scheduled contest with Washington was cancelled because of weather

Boston pounded Roger Wolff and Dick Fowler for 14 hits, Wolff being driven out of the box in the fourth inning when the Sox put on a four-run splurge. Tony Lupien and Johnny Peacock led the Boston hit parade with three singles each, Lupien connecting for two doubles and a single and Peacock cracking out two singles and a double.

Cleveland was out-slugged by St. Louis, 12 hits to 11, but the Tribe made their hits count to score an 8 to 5 victory.

Thornton Lee, who won 22 games last season, won his first this year when he pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 1 to 0 win over Detroit. Second Baseman Ken Kolloway put the game on ice for Lee by stealing home in the sixth inning.

* * *

The Yankees now lead the league by 12 games and are scheduled to get back in action today at the expense of the Senators.

Reiser Injured, Lost to Dodgers

NEW YORK —(UP)— Despite their robust National league lead, the Brooklyn Dodgers faced a serious problem today when it was learned that Outfielder Pete Reiser, the circuit's leading batter, would be out of action for several days.

Reiser, main gun in the heavy Dodger attack, is suffering from an upset stomach and headaches and if his condition fails to improve he will be sent to Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore for a check-up.

The ailment is believed an after-effect of the accident Reiser suffered when he ran into a concrete wall at Sportsman's park in St. Louis July 19. Dr. Robert Hyland, who treated Reiser for concussion said Pete would suffer headaches for a considerable period.

Wins Tourney But Not Honor

Absence of Star Tennis Players Hurts Champ.

RYE, N Y —(INS)—The irony of Ted Schroeder's position in the amateur tennis game today is that he'll never get the full credit for his accomplishments, even if he goes through the Eastern championship tourney here at the Westchester Country club and onto the National title Ted is expected to reach both objectives, and in comparative comfort, too

The way Schroeder is playing here, it is questionable whether anybody can beat him Even Riggs and Novacs would have their troubles.

Like Schroeder, all the favorites in the men's and women's division survived the first day of competition Sidney Wood, seeded second led Charles Masterson of New York, 6-4, before knocking off on account of darkness. Bill Talbert, listed third, moved into the quarter-finals at the expense of Richard Hart, Miami, 6-2, 6-3 Pancho Segura, the Ecuadorian, who heads the foreign draw, beat Richard S. Rithschild of Rye, 6-1, 6-4.

Eastern Clubs Play at Home

Eastern members of the American Association, all in the title running, get their chance to overhaul three western representatives beginning tonight when they open long home stands.

However, one eastern club jumped the gun last night. It was Columbus, the only eastern member now rating a place among the Association's leaders. Columbus beat Milwaukee, 6 to 4, by rallying for five runs in the late innings.

It was the Red Birds' 13th victory in 18 games with Milwaukee, leaving them just a single game behind pace setting Kansas City and dropping Milwaukee a game and a half behind the leader.

Backs Up Champions Serving Their Country.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The National Boxing association today refused to submit to urgings of "boxing commissions, promoters and newspaper sports writers" that titles of boxing champions in the armed services be declared vacant if not defended each six months.

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—A prime factor in the improved showing of the St. Louis Browns this season is the combination of Don Gutteridge and Vernon Stephens at second base and shortstop, respectively.

This pair is developing into one of the top keystone combinations in the American league which boasts the great duos of Joe Gordon and Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees, Roy Mack and Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians, and Bobby Doerr and Johnny Pesky of the Boston Red Sox.

Gutteridge and Stephens are handling their posts with remarkable finesse. Don's batting has been around the .250 average. Stephens has been hitting at a pace slightly over .300.

Manager Luke Sewell grins when Gutteridge and Stephens are mentioned Without hesitation, Luke says they are one of the reasons for the club's improved play, and adds that he expects to see them playing for the Browns for a long time.

Making good with the Browns is a personal triumph for Gutteridge Don couldn't stick with the National league St. Louis Cardinals with whom he spent four seasons The Cardinals sent him to their Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast league where he hit .309 in 171 games last year.

The Browns purchased Gutteridge last winter, and haven't regretted the transaction.

Don was born June 19, 1913, at Pittsburg, Kan., where he still makes his home. He is 5 feet, 9 inches tall, weighs 170 pounds, and is rated one of the fastest men in the major leagues

Stephens is a product of the Browns' farm system, and played with Toledo of the American association last year. He stands 5 feet, 10 inches tall, and weighs 180 pounds. Vernon was born in McAlister, N. M., Oct 23 1920, and his home is at Long Beach, Cal.

ERIE, DAYTON MEET FOR SECOND PLACE

DAYTON — (AP) — Erie meets Dayton here tonight in the first contest of a four-game series for second place in the Mid-Atlantic league.

Two percentage points separated the teams last night after Zanesville defeated the Ducks 4 to 2 to put idle Erie back in second place, taken over 24 hours earlier by Dayton. Canton shut out Springfield 4 to 0 The Erie-Charleston game was postponed.

New Zealand General Wounded in Egypt Battle

Shown lying wounded at the bottom of a trench waiting for transportation to a base hospital is Lieut. Gen. Sir Bernard Freyberg, commander of the New Zealand division fighting with the Allies in the Egyptian desert. He was hit in the neck by a shell fragment during the battle in which Axis forces took Mersa Matruh. Freyberg is back in action on the El Alamein front. (Central Press)

The Watermelon Goes to War

This war has brought many changes, but some things go on just as they did before a couple of international gangsters started acting up. Corp. Robert Riley, of Memphis, Tenn., demonstrates the point with a toothy smile as he prepares to launch an attack on a luscious watermelon while he sits atop a trailer-load of bombs at a flying school in Texas. (Central Press)

American Sailors at Buckingham Palace

Members of the first contingent of U. S. sailors to be given leave from the U. S. task force now in European waters are shown walking past the gates of Buckingham Palace in London. With the gobs is Miss E. Lane, a U. S. Navy transportation aide attached to the Embassy in London. (Central Press)

With Unsung Heroes Behind Russia's Armies

Hawaii Pilots Ready for Scramble

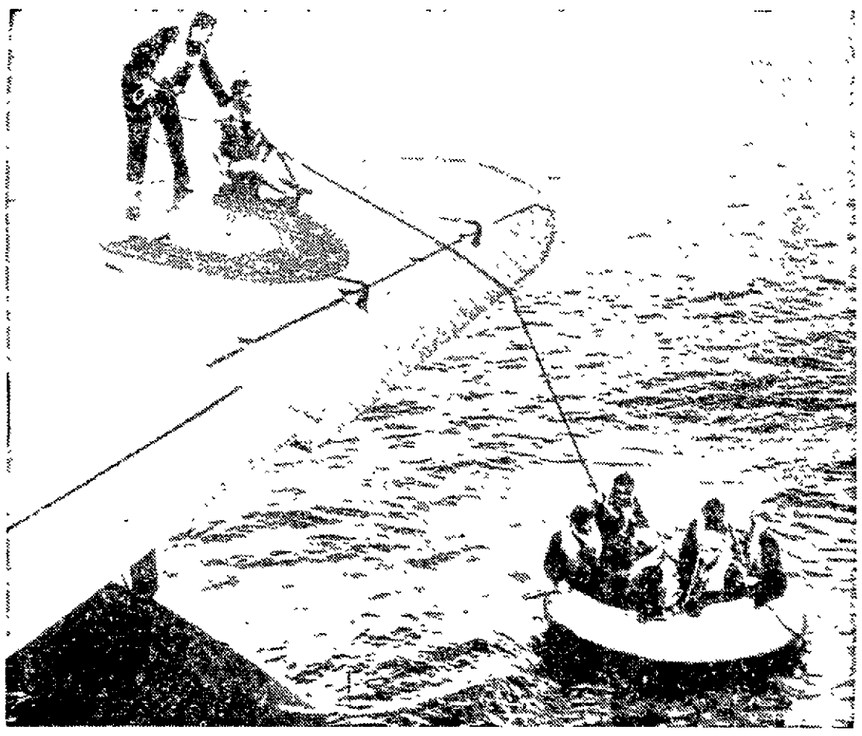
Young Turks Get Air-Conscious

Turkish school children are shown parading with model airplanes as they participated in the eighth congress of the Turkish Air League held recently at Ankara. The league encourages pupils to design and build model planes. A feature of the Congress was the testing of the first training plane of all-Turkish manufacture, the Magister, a plane of British design being made in Turkey under license. (Central Press)

British Bomber Crew Rescued at Sea



Perched on the wing of a big Sunderland flying boat, two members of its crew start the job of hauling to safety the crew of a bomber that had been forced down at sea because of engine trouble. The men bobbed about in their rubber boat all night and were sighted by another bomber in the morning. The big Sunderland came down on the water near the castaways and took them home. (Central Press)

Norse Medal for Mrs. Harriman

Norwegian Ambassador to the United States, Wilhelm Morgenstierne is shown pinning the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Olaf, highest decoration given by Norway, on Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former United States minister to that country. The ceremony took place on King Haakon's seventieth birthday, at the Norwegian Embassy in Washington. (Central Press)

Wife Asks Alimony

Temporary alimony of $750 a month is asked in New York by the wife of Robert Goelet, Jr., pictured here as he lunged toward a cameraman in an attempt to prevent his photo being taken. Goelet, a socialite drummer with Gene Krupa's band, thinks "music more important than marriage," Mrs. Goelet charges.

Fighting Nazis a Family Habit

Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, who was Canada's number one ace in World War I, is shown pinning pilot's wings on the tunic of his son, A. C. W. A. Bishop, at the graduation exercises of the Uplands Service Flying Training School, near Ottawa, Canada. (Central Press)

U.S. Colored Troops on Way to England

WOMAN BARES HER THOUGHTS IN DEATH CELL

Tells Reporter 'Nights Are Mean,' Recalls Story of Crime.

(Editor's Note: Here is an amazing death cell interview. It tells the thoughts of the woman as she faces electrocution next Monday; strikingly reveals the warped philosophy of a criminal.)

By ELLIOTT CHAZE

LAKE CHARLES, La.—(Wide World)—Toni Jo Henry balanced her chair against the thick steel bars of her death cell, said she might as well "kick the lid off."

"Most folks wonder what goes on in the mind of a condemned person," she said. "All right. I'll tell you."

Sentenced to die here Aug. 10 for the 1940 St. Valentine day slaying of a Houston, Tex., salesman, Toni Jo, who is 26, said, "In the first place, the victim doesn't return to haunt me. I never think of him. I've known all along it would be my life for his. I believe mine is worth as much to me as his was to him. I wonder though, sometimes, why it's legal now for some fellow to kill me."

She lighted a cigaret and inhaled absently, fingering her cigaret lighter.

"That lighter is guaranteed for a lifetime," she laughed. "You know one person whose lifetime lighter lasted a lifetime. Funny, I never thought it would outlast me. Maybe I'll smash it August the tenth."

Toni Jo is a nimble conversationalist; speaks with a slight Spanish accent, a tricky hangover "from learning to talk Tex-Mex when I lived in Texas." She never finished grade school.

It was in San Antonio, Tex., in 1939 that she met Claude "Cowboy" Henry, a former boxer. They were married and Henry subsequently was sentenced to 50 years in a Texas penitentiary for the fatal shooting of an officer of the law.

Toni Jo has testified repeatedly that she and her accomplice Finnon Burks killed Joseph P. Callaway, 42, that they might use his car in robbing a bank. The money in turn, was to be employed in effecting "Cowboy" Henry's release from prison.

Explaining her husband's place in the pattern of her crime, Toni Jo said:

"I was a prostitute at 13; a drug addict at 16. No one ever cared about me before him. That guy is the king of my heart. He gave me a home and he got that drug monkey off my back—and that drug monkey is a big strong thing.

"I remember the day I told him I was a cokie and the look on his face. He thought I just smoke marijuana and grinned. But when I told him my train went a lot further than marijuana he took me to a hotel room and I lay there in bed for a week and he would come in now and then and ask me how I was doing. He'd slap my face with iced towels and we'd both laugh.

"The nights here are mean. Sometimes I pray he can get a letter through to me. He's smart. He's no Luke McGluke from Kokomo, that one. They say some condemned prisoners get a lot of grace from eating all the things they want just before they go, but me—Id rather read a letter from him."

No date has yet been set for the execution of Burks. He, too, was sentenced in 1940.

"I think condemned persons fret more about losing contact with human beings than anything else. You feel so out of it. It's more than these bars; it's more like a hellish battle with long distance when she won't give you a number—anybody's number—not one friendly human being's number. You get so cold and pretty soon you're a freak even to yourself."

She, with Burks, was hitchhiking along a Texas highway when Callaway picked them up. They admittedly threatened him with guns, crammed him into the luggage compartment of his car and drove to a rice field seven miles south of Lake Charles. Dragged across the bleak frozen stubble of the field, the salesman was told to pray. Toni Jo shot him above the right eye as he knelt naked beside a straw stack.

"I'm still not sure why we took his clothes," she said.

"I said once, and I say now, it seemed that would delay pursuit. I'm telling you I shot him, because it's no good lying now. Burks didn't do it. Sometimes I wonder why I didn't knock the man unconscious instead, but it was like being drunk, real drunk. Ever pull something when you were drunk and that something seemed the cutest, smartest thing in the world, but it was the awfulest? Well, me, I was drunk with pressure. I told you about my husband . . .

"I always knew there was a God running the show. But I thought maybe I could steal just one little act."

Barring unexpected intervention by Governor Jones she will be the first white woman to die by electrocution in Louisiana.

FRAMES BOND

MONTICELLO, Ind. —(U.P.)— A $25 war bond hangs framed on the wall of the Lake View Hohe, county poor farm here.

It was bought by the infirmary population with nickels and dimes they scraped together through sales of waste paper and from their own meager funds. They explain it this way:

"You see, few of us will be here by 1944, when the bond matures. So we've had it framed and hung on the wall. Anyone in the home at that time will have its full value.

"Maybe they can have a party to celebrate licking the Japs."

Clothing outfits for American aviators cost about $260 a man.

FERRY SERVICE BUILDING HUGE AIRFORCE POOL

American Youths Fly Planes Along Sky-way of North Atlantic.

(By International News Service)

A NORTH ATLANTIC FERRY BASE EN ROUTE TO BRITAIN —Big American bombers piloted by plucky American youths are thundering across the North Atlantic today in a rising tide of air power intended to smash Nazi Germany and aid in the opening of a second front in Europe.

This ferry route has been converted into a sky-lane of planes. Unannounced, the fighting products of America's factories come winging into this Atlantic base—the location of which must remain undisclosed.

Unannounced, they leave, feeding Britain and the American troops garrisoned there with increased air strength.

The military men who run this show admit that it is a big one. They promise that it will grow constantly until it plays a major role in the war.

Only the pilots and crews refuse to comment on the enormity of the project they have undertaken and are carrying out successfully.

"You're so busy up in those planes you don't have time to think about it," they have told me.

Asked if they realized that the ships they fly may soon be in combat over Germany, they reply laconically:

"Could be."

I have talked to dozens of these American airmen who fly under the supervision of the ferry command. They come from all over the United States, from Jackson, Mich., Ripon, Wis., Conover, N. C., Philadelphia, Nashville, Toledo, New York.

Some of them, aviation veterans from barnstorming to bomber, have been back and forth across the Atlantic time after time. These oldtimers of the ferry command know Britain, Greenland, Iceland and the jumping off places of Canada. Some of them know the airways of the Pacific, Hawaii, Australia. For the youngsters it may be their first trans-Atlantic hop.

Most of these trips over the Atlantic are uneventful affairs, smooth, scheduled runs that are piling up a pool of air power with which to beat Hitler. But occasionally there is a mishap.

One airman told of dipping low over the water to investigate a "whole." The whale turned out to be a submarine which fired several ineffectual shells at the plane and then crash-dived.

The ferry command does not look for mishaps but the planes are equipped for emergencies. They carry rubber rafts that can be quickly released and above the door of one transient bomber was scrawled the admonishment:

"It don't mean a thing if you don't pull that string."

Veterans of the ferry command can set their planes down in bewildering landing places when the visibility is so poor they can hardly see the field. And the changeable weather of the North Atlantic is producing a host of pilots who are ready for anything.

Ticket Recalls Lottery of Early California Days

ROSEVILLE, Cal.—(INS)—While arguments rage over establishment of a national lottery to raise war funds, days of an early California lottery which paid its weekly winner $20,000 are recalled with exhuming of a ticket entitling its holder to a one-sixteenth chance.

The ticket, discovered when workmen pulled down an ancient building, was issued by the "Original Nacional Company," established in San Francisco in 1887.

The "M & F" lottery, as it was popularly known, was a famous institution in the colorful California city until its discontinuance some 27 years ago.

Tickets were sold everywhere—in barbershops, saloons, cigar stands, and hotels — and hundreds of tickets were sold on the streets by "rustlers."

On the weekly drawing night all of San Francisco turned out for announcement of lucky numbers, and any bank would gladly cash a winning ticket.

Eight O'Clock Coffee comes exclusively from Brazil—a long, hard sea journey. Because of fewer ships to carry coffee, you may sometimes notice a shortage of this famous blend. But this is wartime and the ships are needed to transport men and materials to far-flung battle fronts. A&P, world's largest coffee merchant, is doing everything possible to supply the demand for Eight O'Clock Coffee. Adequate supplies, however, of Red Circle and Bokar Coffee are available. Both of these blends contain liberal amounts of fine Colombian Coffee—and because the journey from Colombia is shorter than the one from Brazil, more Colombian coffee is available. Treat your family to one of these finer, fresher coffees this very day.

Remember — every pound is customer ground exactly right for your very own coffee-maker. You get all the fine flavor of this "pick of the plantation coffee."

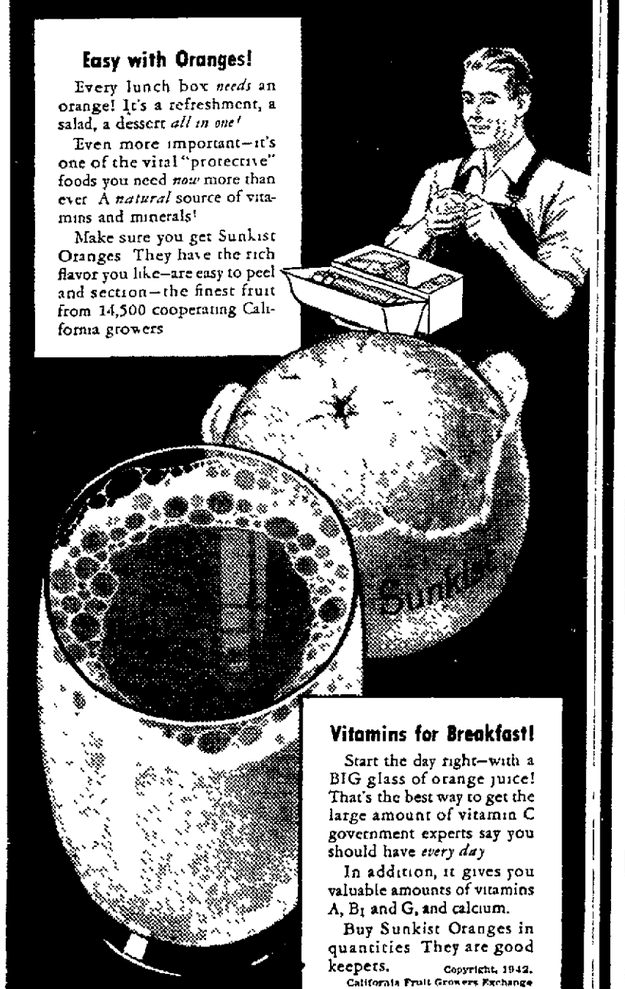
VITAMINS FOR LUNCH!



Easy with Oranges!

Every lunch box needs an orange! It's a refreshment, a salad, a dessert all in one!

Even more important—it's one of the vital "protective" foods you need now more than ever. A natural source of vitamins and minerals!

Make sure you get Sunkist Oranges. They have the rich flavor you like—are easy to peel and section—the finest fruit from 14,500 cooperating California growers.

Vitamins for Breakfast!

Start the day right—with a BIG glass of orange juice! That's the best way to get the large amount of vitamin C government experts say you should have every day.

In addition, it gives you valuable amounts of vitamins A, B_1 and G, and calcium.

Buy Sunkist Oranges in quantities. They are good keepers. Copyright, 1942, California Fruit Growers Exchange

HORSE-BUS

POLAND SPRING, Me.—(U.P.)—This is no longer a one-horse town.

The famed Poland Spring Hotel has almost completely abandoned automobiles in favor of horses because of the gasoline shortage.

A four-horse bus, last used in 1906 is used to transport guests from the railroad station to the 149-year-old resort. Broughams and landaus have been placed in service to carry guests over the vast estate surrounding the hotel.

MILD RECOVERY TREND SEEN IN STOCK LEADERS

Let-Down Reported in Long Upswing of Construction Activity in Nation.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Mild recovery tendencies were exhibited by leading stocks in today's early market proceedings although many issues remained in the backward column.

Up fractionally at a quiet opening were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Loew's, U. S. Gypsum, United Airlines and International Harvester. Unchanged to off a shade were American Telephone, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ) and Anaconda.

Holders of building material shares noted the survey of the Engineering News-Record disclosing a let-down in the long upward swing of construction activities. Heavy engineering contracts for the week ended Thursday were placed at 37 per cent below the figure of the preceding week and 37 per cent below the figure of the preceding week and 30 per cent under the volume in the corresponding 1941 period.

Some encouragement was derived from the Dun & Bradstreet compilation estimating bank clearings in 23 cities during the past week were up 10.5 per cent from the week before and were 9 per cent higher than in the same time a year ago.

THEATERS

Adds to Ohio Films.

Accidents happening in movies often prove very humorous and are added into the film. Such is the case with the currently showing picture, "Twin Beds," at the Ohio theater, starring Joan Bennett, George Brent and Mischa Auer. In one sequence, Brent, attired in a robe and pajamas, was supposedly having a running quarrel with Joan. As he dashed around the end of their bed, his foot caught in a bearskin rug and he landed in an awkward position. The spill looked so funny that the director ordered the take printed and rewrote the sequence to include it.

Continues at Madison.

At the Madison theater is Leslie Howard in "Mr. V," a mystery-melodrama centering around the activities of the Nazis and an American liberator. Most of the dramatic action is unfolded in present-day England, or the Swiss border and in Berlin. The most important and impressive scenes in the film show the workings of the German ministry of information, the inner sanctum of the Gestapo chief, and the well-knit organization of the underground in Germany. Howard's performance is termed "outstanding." In the supporting cast, Mary Morris wins high honors as the girl who is trapped by the Gestapo into spying for them. "Sundown Jim" with John Kimbrough is the co-feature.

'Man From Montana.'

Starting today at the Park is Johnny Mack Brown in the exciting "Man From Montana." Brown appears as a sheriff duty-bound to protect homesteaders invading the range lands of his friends and cattlemen. The story is one of drama highlighting the westward march of progress following the passage of the Homestead Act and the resulting feuds between cattlemen and homesteaders. This roaring western saga is showing at the Park theater. On the same bill is the timely and informative "Our Russian Front," including pictures of the Russians and their working to win this war.

New Stars Appear.

Current at the Ritz theater is "Born to Sing." This show has two stars of tomorrow taking leading roles. They are Virginia Weidler, former "brat" of the movies who now is a very attractive young lady, and Leo Gorcey, from the show "Dead End." Following the musical careers and struggles of these youngsters provides over an hour of entertainment. The second feature is the thrilling film, "Fly By Night," with Nancy Kelley and Richard Carlson.
